Craig Asks Probe Of State Agriculture Department

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED IN ASSEMBLY

Requests Committee To Investigate Payments Of Bovine Indemnities
CHARGES "RACKET"
Claims Tubercular Cattle Purchased And State Pays Outrageous Price

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 20.—(UP)—Another investigation of the Ralph administration, striking at the state department of agriculture, was proposed today in a resolution introduced by Assemblyman Edward Craig, Brea.

Craig called for the appointment of a committee of three assemblymen, to investigate alleged "racketeering" in connection with payments of bovine tuberculosis indemnities, for which the legislature appropriated $1,000,000 in 1931.

Craig said that certain persons, learning that a herd of cattle was about to be condemned, made a practice of buying the cattle at salvage prices, and charged the state outrageous indemnities when the animals were condemned.

Warning was given to the state senate today that a move would be made to nullify a state lease on the San Francisco building under investigation by a senate committee this week.

State Sen. J. M. Inman, Sacramento, chairman of the committee, told the upper house that the only way to prevent a loss to the state would probably be "to refuse money to pay the rent of $50,000 a year."

This fact was called to the attention of the fact-finding committee headed by Sen. David F. Bush, Oakland, with the suggestion it be kept in mind "in determining the amount set aside for rental of buildings by the state."

Assemblyman Ted Craig of Brea, who today introduced a resolution asking investigation of the state department of agriculture.

JAPS PREPARE NEW OFFENSIVE AGAINST JEHOL

Fear Expressed Attack To Be Made When Chinese Celebrate New Year

PEIPING, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Japanese military activity increased outside the Great Wall of China today. Fears were expressed that the offensive against the northern province of Jehol would be resumed coincident with the Chinese new year, when the Chinese will be more inclined to holiday observance than to fighting.

Japanese cavalry detachments, supported by tanks and a transport corps, left Chinchow and Shan-hai-kwan and advanced to Chinsai on the eastern Jehol frontier.

Indicating that the Japanese had created a new penetration point on the frontier, the Chinchow command announced the occupation of Chinsai after the withdrawal of Chinese irregular westward.

Fears that the recent period of inactivity was ending were strengthened by the following developments: A Japanese announcement from Mukden that a drive against bandits had been ordered westward of the Liao river in southern Manchuria.

The Japanese at Shan-hai-kwan, where the Great Wall ends at the sea, announced activities of the third Chinese cavalry brigade in the vicinity of Chinwangtao.

Winnie Judd Sanity Again Questioned

State Objects To Further Cross Examination Of Trunk Murderess

COURTROOM, PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 20.—(UP)—The question of the sanity of Winnie Judd, condemned to die for murder, was raised again today at the preliminary hearing of J. J. Halloran, wealthy lumberman, accused of having been an accessory after she killed Agnes Anne Leroy.

It came with argument on the motion made yesterday by Halloran's counsel to have her entire testimony stricken because she is "mentally and physically unsound."

Mrs. Judd had resumed the stand for the fourth consecutive day when the state, for which she is the star witness, objected on the ground that the questioning of Frank O. Smith, attorney for Halloran, violated the constitutional rights of Mrs. Judd.

Smith immediately renewed his motion to have her testimony stricken and Judge J. C. Niles told him to present his arguments.

"We are prepared now to show the witness on the stand beyond a doubt is of unsound mind," Smith stated.

"This is not an insanity hearing," Judge Niles reminded.

"It is a motion to show the witness now is of unsound mind and it is the duty of the magistrate to decide it."

Smith attempted to ask Mrs. Judd questions regarding her frame of mind but the state successfully objected to most of the questions and Judge Niles suggested better progress could be made if Smith gave an offering of exactly what he was attempting to show.

BILL PROVIDING REDUCTION IN COUNTY TAX LEVIES FOR SCHOOLS IS GIVEN APPROVAL

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 20.—(UP)—Giving board powers to county boards of supervisors, a bill permitting substantial reductions in county tax levies for school purposes was before the senate today with a "do pass" recommendation of the governmental efficiency committee.

In approving the measure by Sen. R. R. Ingles, Potter Valley, the committee declined to take action on the school proposal of Sen. Arthur H. Breed, Oakland, which would have reduced by 20 per cent the state's share of school support.

As amended in committee the Ingles measure provides that counties may levy school taxes to collect a maximum of $30 for each elementary school pupil in average daily attendance, and $60 for high school pupils.

The present law sets these figures as a minimum requirement, with no other limitation. The bill also gives boards of supervisors power to revise school budgets "at their discretion."

The proposal also strikes a hard blow at adult education by stating that no person over 21 years of age shall be counted in average daily attendance in determining state or county support.

EXTRA SESSION FOUR OF CREW IN APRIL NOW LOSE LIVES IN SEEMS CERTAIN STORM AT SEA

Roosevelt Told That Program Cannot Be Carried Out This Session

By FREDERICK A. STORM (United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(UP)—President-elect Roosevelt's hopes for enactment of a legislative program to start the nation toward economic recovery now rest with an extra session of congress.

Congressional leaders in a swift succession of conferences informed him the Democratic program of budget balancing, farm relief, beer and prohibition repeal stands little or no chance of enactment before March 4.

Close friends today said Mr. Roosevelt was virtually convinced the new congress would have to be called early in April.

City Dudes In Danger Of Sudden Death

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Bewhiskered prospectors of Inyo county were up in arms today against the city dudes who were killing their burros and hauling the meat back to Los Angeles animal farms.

"Parties killing burros are running a grave risk of being killed themselves by the prospectors and miners who are the owners," said a grim warning issued by the district attorney's office.

Authorities said the outraged owners had their big six-guns and rifles all oiled and primed ready for the city dudes.

Another large disturbance was reported on its way from Alaska to Southern California by the United States Weather bureau, as rain continued in Orange county today and snow from the second storm of the year in the county was reported on the foothills and canyons of the county.

Snow was within 20 miles of Santa Ana today, according to reports from Shadybrook, six inches deep on the foothills back of Silverado canyon. Snow also was reported in the upper end of the canyon.

Soll in the county during the past 24 hours heavy rainfall continued to absorb most of the moisture, with little run-off reported in any section. Creeks in the county were flowing with water but little water flowed in the Santa Ana river.

A strong wind which was almost a gale began blowing around 4:30 p. m. and continued until 7 p. m. The wind was strong enough to cause considerable damage to Edison company lines in the county, particularly in the coast and near-coast districts. Midway City was reported without service all night. Many other districts along the coast were reported to have been without service most of the night.

New Administration Plans To Call Conference In Capital During March
STATEMENT IS MADE
Announcement Forthcoming After Conference With President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(UP)—The White House issued a statement today after a conference between President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt announcing that the new administration was prepared to discuss debts and the world economic conference with Great Britain early in March.

The communique indicated that Great Britain would send representatives here early in March for this purpose. Arrangements for the conferences will be made by Secretary of State Stimson.

The White House statement: "The conference between the president and president-elect this morning was attended by secretaries Stimson and Mills and Messrs. Norman Davis and Moley. The discussions were devoted mainly to a canvass of the foreign situation and the following statement covering the procedure to be followed was agreed upon:

"The British government has asked for a discussion of the debts.

"The incoming administration will be glad to receive their representative early in March for this purpose; it is, of course, necessary to discuss at the same time the world economic problems in which the United States and Great Britain are mutually interested and therefore that representative should also be sent to discuss ways and means for improving the world situation.

"It was settled that these arrangements will be taken up by the secretary of state with the British government."

The program agreed on makes it possible to set up machinery for prompt consideration of the debt and economic problems as soon as the new administration enters office. Yet it saves the present government, defeated at the polls from the responsibility of attempting to make decisions.

MONTAGU NORMAN WILL MARRY SOON

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is engaged to marry Mrs. Priscilla Cecilia Mary Worthington, divorced from Alexander Louis Wynnand-Koch-Worthington, it was announced today.

Norman is 61 years old; his fiancée 33.

ARMY FLIER KILLED AS PLANE EXPLODES

DAYTON, O., Jan. 20.—(UP)—Lieut. J. A. Woodring of Wright Field was hurled to his death today when a modified pursuit airplane he was testing burst into flames and exploded as it sped through the air at 2000 feet altitude.

The plane fell into an open field four miles northeast of here. The officer's body was found 1500 feet from the wreckage.

Woodring was known as one of the most expert fliers at the army field here and was widely noted in flying circles. Witnesses said his craft burst into flames and then was shattered by an explosion.

GOVERNOR ROLPH IN HOSPITAL WITH FLU

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Gov. James Rolph, confined to St. Francis hospital with a serious attack of influenza, was reported to be "resting comfortably" today.

The governor was rushed here by automobile from Sacramento last night after he had been ordered to bed. Dr. John Galloway, his physician, said the influenza attack had been aggravated by "considerable pulmonary congestion."

Dr. Galloway did not regard Governor Rolph's condition as critical unless further complications develop. He said a complete rest of more than a week would be necessary.

"A complaint of this sort is treacherous, but with proper treatment he should weather the attack without serious consequences," Dr. Galloway said.

LEGISLATION FOR BRIDGE APPROVED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Enabling legislation to permit the construction of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge by means of a $62,000,000 loan from the federal reconstruction finance corporation was on its way through the state legislature today with the approval of both the senate and assembly committees on roads and highways.

The measures were given unanimous approval by the senate committee, and favored by a vote of 13 to 2 in the assembly group.

Eight amendments were added to the bills during committee consideration, including provisions to permit a bridge or tube to be built from Oakland to Alameda; another permitting a municipal ferry from San Diego to Coronado and a third stating more explicitly that maintenance of the bridge must be borne out of northern California gas tax funds.

TITO SCHIPA WILL BE OPERATED UPON

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Tito Schipa, who wears the mantle of the late Enrico Caruso, soon may extend the range of his voice to the clarion high notes, possibly the E-flat above high C.

An operation was to be performed at Hollywood hospital today through which it was expected the removal of congestion and inflammation would give to Schipa's throat the strength and flexibility to fulfill his musical destiny.

According to Dr. Edward Kellogg, throat specialist, a congested pharynx will be relieved and swollen tonsils removed.

"I am so thrilled at the prospect," Schipa cried, "Think of it; possibly high E. I now can sing no higher than B-flat!"

FORECLOSURES IN IOWA ARE HALTED

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 20.—(UP)—Gov. Clyde L. Herring issued a proclamation effective today calling on all holders of mortgages on Iowa real estate and personal property to halt foreclosure proceedings.

The proclamation will remain in force until the legislature has had opportunity to effect permanent relief.

More than 3000 members of the Iowa farm bureau federation were in annual meeting here. They had drafted a resolution and asking repeal of the statute which allows deficiency judgments.

CAUSED HIM TO WONDER WHAT JUSTICE IS

Harry Rice, of 2011 Bush street, who operates a truck between here and Oregon, is today wondering what this thing called "justice" is.

Rice was driving his truck through Burbank on December 24, when it was struck by a car driven by Auber B. Stevens, of 332 North Reno street, Los Angeles. Stevens is a telephone company official in Los Angeles.

The Rice truck was knocked back 20 feet in the crash, Rice reports, in spite of the fact that with the load it weighed eight tons. The truck was badly damaged and Rice was injured. He depends on his truck for a living and was forced to sign a waiver in order to get funds to repair the truck, he reported.

Stevens was arrested at the time and charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and with reckless driving. His case came up in court on January 18, at which time the driving drunk charge was dismissed by City Judge Irving Watson and he was found guilty of reckless driving, sentence to be passed on January 19.

Yesterday sentence was passed. He was ordered to pay a fine of $40.

The dismissal of the driving drunk charge was made in spite of the fact that two Burbank doctors who examined Stevens, three hours apart on the night of the arrest both pronounced him drunk.

Frederick Johnson Called By Death

Frederick M. Johnson, 62, a resident of Santa Ana for the past six months, died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. L. Beauchamp, 818 Cypress avenue.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ida Johnson; two sons, George Johnson of this city and Carl Johnson of Los Angeles; three daughters, Mrs. R. L. Beauchamp and Miss Myrtle Johnson of Santa Ana and Mrs. Harry Pitt of Florence, Colorado, and his mother, Mrs. Marie Nelson of Friendship, Wisconsin.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. from the Winbigler funeral home with the Rev. H. W. Meyer, pastor of the St. Peter's Lutheran church, officiating.

Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery with the Odd Fellows lodge in charge of the graveside services.

BOEGE FUNERAL TO BE HELD SATURDAY

ANAHEIM, Jan. 20.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of Backs, Terry and Campbell for Mrs. Louisa Amelia Boege, 83, who passed away at her home on South Lemon street Wednesday noon.

The Rev. H. G. Schmelzer of the Zion Lutheran church will officiate at the service. Interment will be made in Anaheim cemetery.

The deceased came to Anaheim in 1929 from Chile with her father, Charles Lorenzo. She was the widow of the late Henry Boege, who passed away 40 years ago.

NEW DIRECTORS SELECTED FOR HARBOR C. OF C.

The annual meeting of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce was held at the high school last night, 49 members being present despite the inclement weather.

The program included announcement of new directors of the organization, showing of motion pictures taken by H. L. Sherman in Tahiti and an address on "Technocracy" by Harold Sharp, Los Angeles engineer.

New directors are as follows: District No. 1, B. F. Chaplin and J. A. Siegel; No. 2, M. J. Johnson; No. 3, A. S. Meyer and E. I. Moore; No. 4, W. L. Jordan and Theo. Robbins; No. 5, A. B. Rousseau; No. 6, W. S. Smith Jr. and No. 7, H. L. Sherman.

Holdover directors are L. L. Isbell, Irvin G. Gordon, Lew Wallace, J. A. Beck, H. H. Williamson and Stuart H. Lucas.

W. L. Jordan acted as chairman of the meeting. The directors will meet next week for the purpose of electing officers.

Sharp, an engineer for the Southern California Edison company for many years and a friend of Bassett Jones, recognized as one of the three leading technocrats, in pointing out that it is impossible for society to continue much longer under the present price system, declared that the industrial debt totals $218,000,000,000.

The speaker stated that one motor car manufacturer is capable of making a machine which could travel 100,000 miles without repairs of any kind.

Sharp declared that Bassett Jones in 1928 made a survey for a group of New York capitalists regarding the erection of the Empire State building. They failed to follow Jones' survey and today the structure is known as the Empty State building, Sharp related.

GET ONE YEAR JAIL SENTENCE FOR AUTO THEFT

Serafino Flores and John Montano, who recently pleaded guilty to stealing the automobile of Albert Del Rio were granted probation for a period of three years by Judge James L. Allen today in superior court.

Two prisoners entered pleas of guilty this morning, during the criminal court session, one to a charge of burglary and the other to issuing a fictitious check.

H. H. Davis, accused of issuing a fictitious check for $5 to Kenneth Cayton, of Orange, appeared in court to answer to the information filed against him and asked that an attorney be appointed by the court. City Attorney Clyde Downing received the appointment and after a brief conference Davis pleaded guilty and asked for probation. Hearing on the probation plea was set for February 3.

Carl E. Sanders, accused of burglary, also represented by Downing, pleaded guilty and waived time for pronouncement of judgment. The court delayed passing sentence, however, until word can be received from Riverside county. Sanders is an escaped prisoner from the Riverside county chain gang and the court indicated that he will be returned to that county if such request is made.

HEAVY SNOWS REPORTED IN THIS COUNTY

lines in the county were down as a result of the wind and rain. Two telephone poles in outlying sections were blown to the ground.

Two rigs being used in the drilling of oil wells on the beach west of Huntington Beach were damaged by high waves last night.

A few row boats in Newport Harbor were pulled loose from their moorings last night but outside of that little damage was reported by Harbormaster M. S. Robinson.

Most of the rainfall was absorbed in the ground, as was evidenced by the report that the Santiago dam had risen but little today, even after the heavy rains.

Streets of Santa Ana and other county cities flowed with water last night. Car tracks on Fourth street were covered with water as it flowed down Sycamore and Broadway. Cars plowed through the southern part of the city, particularly along Fairview street, through water which flowed over the curbs.

A bridge over Laguna canyon, a half-mile from the city, was washed out when a creek overflowed from an average eight-foot width to a 50-foot width. Residents of the section were unable to return to their homes during the night. Water flowed in the streets and into many stores along the coast highway. Sewers on the cliffs were clogged and water backed up into houses.

A total of 1.35 inches of rain fell in Garden Grove from 5 to 6:45 p. m. yesterday. The total rainfall in Garden Grove, the second highest of any place in the county for the past 24 hours, for the 24-hour period was 2.40 inches.

Pullerton led the county in amount of rain for the past 24 hours with 2.56 inches. Santa Ana received 1.60 inches, making the total for the season 6.31 against 9.24 at this time last year.

FIVE FIREMEN HURT IN SAN JOSE BLAZE

SAN JOSE, Calif., Jan. 20.—(UP)—Five firemen were injured, one probably fatally, in quelling a fire which threatened the San Jose business district last night.

The flames were brought under control after they had destroyed the building and stock of Brum's department store. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

Fire equipment from neighboring towns was rushed here to augment the local department when the spectacular blaze threatened to spread out of control. Other buildings adjoining the Brum store were damaged.

Salvatore Bernal, one of the injured firemen, was seriously burned and bruised and not expected to recover.

POLICE SEEKING HIT-RUN DRIVER

Police were today seeking the driver of a small car which last night collided with a bicycle ridden by Jimmy Dusenberry, 14, son of H. A. Dusenberry, 291 South Birch street, injuring the boy.

The driver of the car did not stop after the accident and is wanted on a felony charge of failure to stop and render aid after an accident.

The accident occurred at Broadway and Walnut street, at 5:55 p. m. Jimmy suffered cuts and bruises about the legs. He was taken to his home.

when he came out for price stabilization of four commodities—wheat, cotton, hogs and tobacco.

Senator Ellison Smith, who will become chairman of the agriculture committee in the next senate, however, came away from the Roosevelt home in New York City the other night stating that it was his opinion the president-elect was for a revised farm measure providing stabilization of prices on wheat and cotton only.

Regarding prohibition repeal, Mr. Roosevelt said he stood on the Democratic platform declaration for outright repeal, as opposed to the pending senate resolution which contains qualifications banning the saloon and guaranteeing federal protection of dry states.

Asked by newspapermen about the Democratic fiscal program, Roosevelt replied: "The quicker we balance the budget the better." He declined, however, to discuss means of achieving this end.

The final visitors, who did not leave the Roosevelt suite until well after midnight, were Senators Pittman, Nevada; Byrnes, South Carolina, and Professor Raymond I. Moley, his chief economic adviser. It was understood they discussed the silver question and its importance to the mining states of the west.

Jewelry Stolen Last September Reported Today

Burglars broke into the home of Mrs. E. Upman, of 1102 North Sycamore street, last September, but it was not reported to the police until today.

Mrs. Upman said she had a bad habit of misplacing things about the house and she wanted to be sure that the $100 diamond brooch and a gold watch, which were missing were really stolen instead of misplaced.

The burglary was believed to have been committed some time between September 1 and 15, at which time members of the family were out of the city.

FIND 3 WANTED HERE ALREADY BEHIND BARS

Justice Kenneth Morrison would have held preliminary examination for three men charged with grand theft here, today, but the three men did not appear for trial.

There was good reason for their non-appearance too, for one of them is in San Quentin, one is in Folsom prison and the third is in the Los Angeles county jail.

The men are J. M. Mitchell, Harold Ruark, and Robert T. O'Brien, all alleged bunco artists, who are asserted to have robbed Mrs. Anna Biffeld, of Anaheim of some $2500 in a stock transaction. The theft is asserted to have taken place on April 30, 1932.

Since that time, Mitchell has been sent to San Quentin, Ruark to Folsom and it developed that O'Brien is serving a six months' sentence in the Los Angeles county jail.

The case was continued indefinitely and the judge issued a warrant for the arrest of all three of them, which will be turned over to the sheriff. The sheriff, in turn, will place holds on the three men at the three prisons and when they serve their other sentences will be returned to Santa Ana.

MAYOR QUILTS IN BEACH CITY ECONOMY ROW

"For good and sufficient reasons," Mayor J. E. Bishop of Laguna Beach late yesterday handed his resignation as mayor to City Clerk George W. Prior. He will continue as a member of the city council.

Bishop declared today that his action was the result of neglect on the part of other members of the city council to carry out economies which had been agreed to at an informal meeting.

Bishop said that at a meeting Wednesday afternoon of Councilmen B. B. McMillan and George W. Wilson and himself, all agreed to go on record for a budget reduction of $3880 in the street, building and police departments. At the regular city council meeting Wednesday night, the board failed to make the promised reduction, Bishop pointed out.

In order to meet budget needs, the city has been borrowing $9000 from the county. Of this amount, $7000 was "inherited" by the present council from the former administration. Bishop said he was tired of asking for a county loan, declaring that the city should do business on its income.

The council was to have met yesterday afternoon to discuss a $3000 deficit in the street lighting fund but neither Bishop or A. R. Burns, manager of the Edison company office, was present.

Bishop said that his resignation was "final and definite."

OTHER OFFICERS NAMED BY HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

On a second ballot selecting candidates for three officers, Santa Ana high school closed its semester student elections late yesterday by naming Arthur Strancke as vice president; Medora Smith, secretary; Paul Hales and Walter Hendrie, boys' self-government representatives.

Margaret Finley was defeated by Strancke in the final, and Jackie Meyer was eliminated by Miss Smith. Ed Bradley and Claude Owens were in the self-government race won by Hales and Hendrie.

In the first election Tuesday Floyd Montgomery defeated Robert Wimbush for the presidency, and Hazel Harper and Roberta Tutill were named girls' self-government representatives.

CASH (Interest and Deferred) PAYMENT OF $46,000

To the Poultrymen of Southern California

The Poultrymen's Cooperative Association of Southern California is a non-profit organization owned and controlled by poultrymen. Any surplus which may be accumulated through its operations is distributed to its members in proportion to the business they do with the Association. During the past year, despite the unsettled marketing conditions, the P.C.A. has met all of its current obligations, set up the reserves necessary for the maintenance of a sound business organization and accumulated a surplus for distribution to its members. During January and the early part of February, a total of more than $46,000 is being distributed to the poultryman of Southern California as a deferred payment on eggs shipped by members to their association and interest on capital invested by poultrymen in their cooperative business.

MARKET STABILIZATION

In addition to maintaining a sound operating program and meeting all obligations, P.C.A., in cooperation with other poultry cooperative marketing associations on the Coast, has had a material influence in maintaining a price of two to four cents per dozen above prevailing egg prices to producers throughout most of the United States.

Pacific Coast poultry co-ops stored more eggs than usual during this past year, to stabilize egg markets (when the independent operators were unwilling or unable to store their usual holdings which would have had a very serious effect upon prices during the peak production season). The total U. S. storage holdings of eggs in 1932 was 35 per cent less than at the peak in 1931, but Pacific Coast poultry cooperatives held 50 per cent of the total storage holdings on the Coast, and 11 per cent of the total holdings in the United States.

In addition, P.C.A. purchased more than 7,000 cases of eggs on the Los Angeles Produce Exchange and shipped more than 6,000 cases of eggs from this market to the Eastern Seaboard, all for the purpose of stabilizing local egg prices. This entire program resulted in returns of at least ONE MILLION DOLLARS to poultrymen in Southern California in excess of what they would have otherwise received, had the cooperative associations not been functioning in their behalf.

Members of this Association may well feel proud of the part which they have played in stabilizing their industry. P.C.A. members who market their eggs through the Association are now receiving a ten-cent per case deferred cash payment in addition to interest bearing certificates which are issued quarterly to all members who purchase feed and supplies or market eggs through their Association.

A WORD OF COMFORT

No one of us is as good as he ought to be. What you are in process of becoming is what really matters. So long as you keep on trying, you are "becoming" what God expects of you. No matter how frequently you may seem to be worsted in the fight, there will be peace in your heart as you struggle on. At length He will need you more than here and you will be rewarded with your best beloved.

JOHNSON—In Santa Ana, Frederick M. Johnson, aged 62 years, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. L. Beauchamp, 818 Cypress avenue. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ida Johnson; two sons, George Johnson of this city; Carl Johnson, of Los Angeles; three daughters, Mrs. R. L. Beauchamp and Miss Myrtle Johnson, both of this city; Mrs. Harry Pitt, of Florence, Colorado; and mother, Mrs. Marie Nelson, of Friendship, Wis. Services will be held Monday, January 22, at 10 a. m. from the Winbiger Funeral home, with the Rev. H. W. Meyer, pastor of Saint Peter's Lutheran church, officiating. Interment in Fairhaven cemetery where the services of the Odd Fellows will be given.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR JOHN HUNTON

Funeral services for John W. Hunton, who passed away Tuesday, and who had lived in Orange county since 1903, were held yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the Smith and Tuthill Funeral home. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

During the services, Mrs. Lela Hughes sang two solos, accompanied at the piano by Miss Fay Bortz.

The Rev. George F. Tinsley, pastor of the Fullerton Christian church, officiated.

Pallbearers were Bill Hunton, Alex Jamison, Ernest Sawyer, A. E. McDonald, Jim Woodruff and J. D. Hunton.

Mr. Hunton is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marlon Hunton; his father, H. O. Hunton; a son, Ward Hunton; a daughter, Evelyn Hunton; a sister, Mrs. A. E. McDonald and a brother, H. L. Hunton.

Local Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Wimer E. DeVore have arrived in Santa Ana after motoring from their home at Seattle, Washington. They plan to spend two weeks visiting Mr. DeVore's mother, Mrs. Avis P. DeVore, 422-A West First street. DeVore was formerly with the E. K. Wood Lumber company of Santa Ana, but has been connected with the lumber industry in Seattle for the past six years.

A. J. McFadden, prominent rancher and member of the Agricultural Credit Corporation board, left last night for Washington, D. C., to attend a meeting of the National Council of Co-Operation for discussion of matters of interest to the farmers co-operative organizations of the United States.

Joe Basabe, 22, and Winifred F. Baker, 18, both of Fullerton, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

COURT ORDERS DEPORTATION AT TERM END

Rolf Von Eckartsberg, son of the chamberlain to the former Emperor Wilhelm of Germany, this morning was granted probation by Superior Judge James L. Allen for a period of 10 years on a charge of manslaughter. Von Eckartsberg was recently found guilty by a jury which heard evidence on a complaint filed following an automobile crash in which three Orange high school students were killed.

As terms of his probation, Von Eckartsberg must spend 18 months in the county jail and at the expiration of his jail sentence, according to Judge Allen's decree, must post a $5000 bond guaranteeing his voluntary deportation to Germany never to return to the United States.

Stanley Visel, Von Eckartsberg's attorney, filed notice of appeal, not from the verdict of the jury but from the court's ruling denying a motion for a new trial.

In pronouncing judgment, Judge Allen said that the court could not allow sympathy, passion or prejudice to enter the case. He declared that he did not believe the testimony of the defense as to how the accident had happened as he had taken a car of similar make to the one driven by Von Eckartsberg at the time of the crash and, driving in the same position as testified to by Von Eckartsberg, had had some one strike his arm as had been testified as the cause of the crash. Judge Allen said that the car did not swerve from the road as had been testified.

Peculiar Angle
The court also declared that there was another peculiar angle to the affair in that immediately after the crash another car had driven up and Von Eckartsberg was immediately removed. The court took cognizance of the fact that the charge was involuntary manslaughter but said that with three lives snuffed out there must be some justice and some punishment for the man responsible.

It is said that parents of the three students killed in the crash had indicated that they would have been satisfied had Von Eckartsberg received a six months jail term as a condition of probation. It is said they favored such a sentence as a deterrent and not as particular punishment for Von Eckartsberg.

Depositions and testimony as to Von Eckartsberg's character, gathered by G. A. Struve, head of the German Embassy for Southern California, revealed that Von Eckartsberg is the son of a lieutenant colonel in the German army and former chamberlain to the former Emperor Wilhelm.

Prominent Connections
Prior to the decline of the German mark Von Eckartsberg's father was one of the wealthy men of Germany. Henry Berg, outstanding German film star and well known in Hollywood, is a brother-in-law, and Von Eckartsberg's two brothers, Karl and Heinz, are, respectively, an attorney at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany; and a metallurgical engineer in Bochum, Ruhr Valley.

One telegram in German and submitted with an English translation testified that he was a serious, reliable man of absolutely respectable character and of irreproachable conduct. It was signed by Heinrich Mehl, director of the Deutsch Bank; Count Beroldingen, airport commander; Dr. Wagner, counselor of the superior court; Dr. Gutenstein, notary; Count Von Buelow, colonel in the German army; and Dr. Frey, member of the German Olympic committee. All of whom have known Von Eckartsberg and his family for many years. Another deposition was signed by Louis John Pade, of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, who is in the United States at present on a study and observation tour and attested to by Klaus Curtius, son of Dr. J. C. Curtius, former minister of foreign affairs of the Republic of Germany.

BREED ASSERTS SCHOOL COSTS ARE TWO-THIRDS OF ENTIRE ESTIMATED STATE RECEIPTS

In order that the public "may be informed as to the gravity of the financial situation of the state," Senator Arthur H. Breed of Alameda county, whose bill for reductions of state aid to school districts is pending in the state legislature, today made public a statement regarding state finances which was recently submitted to the state committee on constitutional amendments.

The statement, in part, follows: "Our government is on the verge of bankruptcy, and we are confronted with the task of averting default in its obligations. Our capacity for self-government is being put to the test."

"The state controller estimates that the state revenue for the next biennium will be $91,000,000. This will mean a deficit, according to this authority, of $63,500,000, an appalling figure."

"It is our responsibility to balance expenditure with revenue, starting with a budget out of balance by $63,500,000."

"To make up this overwhelming deficiency with new taxes would mean a per capita exaction of $12."

"To care for it with a levy on all property in the state would require an added 90 cents of tax per $100 of assessed valuation."

"If school costs are not cut it will be difficult, because of the injustice of it, to effect reductions in other avenues of public expenditure."

School Costs $60,000,000
"I will ask you to note this particularly: The total cost for the state of elementary and high schools for the biennium will be $60,000,000. This estimated revenue will be $91,000,000. The revenue will leave $31,000,000 for all other governmental activities. Retrenchment to the amount of $63,500,000 is obviously not good mathematics."

"But, even at the very best, the picture continues to be extremely painful. Let us assume that my 20 per cent reduction in school costs were adopted. That would provide $12,000,000 for the deficit. Let's assume that the taxes on the corporations are increased $12,000,000, as is urged. Suppose $8,000,000 is diverted from gas tax revenue. Let's say that the general governmental expenditures are reduced $10,000,000 more. This includes about all the suggestions that have been put forward thus far."

"The total of these is $42,000,000, which is $18,000,000 short of the estimated deficit."

"This is not a predicament, not an emergency; it is bankruptcy, a condition that calls for a receivership."

"If anyone thinks that this condition should be remedied by resort to additional taxes, then he has no appreciation of the economic distress that afflicts our people."

Represent People
"Is this situation confronting us beyond the capacity of representative government? Are we going to let these powerful organized minorities drive our state to ruin?"

"I am proposing that we ask the public schools to contribute $12,000,000 toward meeting that deficit of $63,500,000. The members of the senate are being bombarded with messages to 'save the child,' to 'rescue our schools from politics.' The great body of unorganized taxpayers does not express itself. It looks to us members of the legislature to represent them. There is no organized resistance to the drive of those who have no concern for the people, no concern but for their own selfish interests."

"The school lobby is waging a state-wide campaign, and has served notice that it will oppose reductions in school support from state funds."

"I dare the school lobby to submit to the people of California this question of reasonable curtailment in public school costs. They are afraid to meet the issue, except here in the legislature where their highly developed political methods have so long had effective results. If the teachers will not help out in this calamity that faces the taxpayers it is hardly fair to ask other agencies to assume the whole, the entire burden of retrenchment."

"Retrenchment is having a hard

SAYS ATTITUDE OF FRENCH TO U. S. FRIENDLY

The attitude of the majority of the French people toward America is rather cynical at present, according to T. H. Glenn, head of the Santa Ana Junior college. Glenn was the speaker last night at the monthly meeting of the Santa Ana Council of International Relations.

This attitude of cynicism, he said, has been created through the increase of crime in the United States and the present economic crisis. In the past, according to Glenn, the French attitude toward America was that this nation was the vanguard of civilization and the future of the world.

The French people held the impression that America was a nation of great wealth and immense economic resources. It has always been the impression that America was a nation of wealthy people. This impression was strengthened during the World war and by the American tourist in France.

"Despite this attitude of cynicism toward America at the present, the real French attitude is one of friendliness toward Americans," Glenn said. "Many people have returned from France with tales of courteous treatment and unfriendly gestures. These people were mostly tourists and came in contact only with taxicab drivers, hotel employees and minor officials of the railroads and from this type of impression of the French people, it obviously would be unfair to take the attitude of the same class of people in America and use their treatment of tourists as the yardstick by which the American attitude is measured."

Homes Secluded
"The French people seem rather cold and inhospitable in their home life when judged by the American. This exclusive attitude is a part of the attitude toward home life held by the French people. To the Frenchman the home is an intimate and sacred affair. The home and life in it are not exposed to the public view and the Frenchman does not invite even his best friends into the home frequently. Most of the social life is carried on in the cafes. It is significant that when

HORSES TO BE ON PROGRAM AT GRAND CENTRAL

Rossika, educated Arabian mare, and Champion Hanad, trained for various stunts under saddle, will be featured in a public show to be given at the Grand Central Market tomorrow between 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. it was announced today.

The horses, which come from the famous W. K. Kellogg ranch located four miles west of Pomona, are part of the regular free entertainment given at the ranch each Sunday.

A special sale featuring Kellogg cereals is the occasion of the appearance of Hanad and Rossika at the market. Mark Smith, former trainer for Al G. Barnes' circus and who is now in full charge of all training at the Kellogg ranch, will appear in charge of the horses and will put them through their stunts. Smith was a resident of Santa Ana and Costa Mesa for many years and is known to be one of the most outstanding horse trainers in North America.

Among the stunts Rossika performs is the wheeling of a baby buggy, putting her "baby" to bed, operating a cash register, playing hobby horse and many other tricks.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY VERA RAMSEY

It is very difficult for an age to view its predecessor impartially. Often the principles upon which a new age is laid have their birth at least partly in revolt. Thus up to a few years ago we were too near the Victorian age to derive any nourishment from them. H. J. Massingham and Hugh Massingham, the editors of the new book "The Great Victorians" believe that the modern generation has advanced far enough to see that the England of Queen Victoria is not something to either extravagantly praise or curse. We have come to realize that a clear understanding of it is necessary for our development.

These two editors have thoughtfully chosen a representative list of great men and women of the Victorian age. They have endeavored to make their list cover as many as possible of the phases and characteristics of this period. Glancing through the table of contents we see such names as Matthew Arnold, the Brontës, Burne-Jones, Edward Fitzgerald, Thomas Hardy, Tennyson and many others. In order to make the appraisal of these great personalities of an earlier age as many-sided as possible, modern writers of differing beliefs, were chosen to write these biographies. Thus we find writers with such opposing views as J. Middleton Murry, Father D'Arcy, Rebecca West, and G. K. Chesterton.

The editors hope that through their choice of both Victorians and moderns we may be enabled to see a picture of every aspect of the Victorian age. We have presented its materialism, its spiritual tribulations, its artistic individuality, its artistic lack of form, its scientific keenness, its political and economic enthusiasm. It is the representation of this inner conflict which gives coherence and unity to the book.

The whole history of California has been touched with romance, but in the days of '49 and the early '50's adventure ran riot. The discovery of gold brought a rush of strange new population from all parts of the world. There were marvelous tales told of lucky ones who had found a fortune. Stories there were too of great suffering and privation endured by some seekers after gold.

These were picturesque days. The styles of old Spain dominated the Golden State and sombreros, sashes, bell trousers, mantillas, fans and shawls were the dress of the day. However, there was also another side to the story. The phase of life which is denoted by this other side is told to us by Ireno Paz in "The Life and Adventures of the Celebrated Bandit, Joaquin Murrieta. His Exploits in the State of California." This book is translated from the Spanish by Frances P. Belle.

The lawlessness which always accompanies a gold rush was formidable in the territory of California struggling to be a state. The outlaws whose stories are given here were very real to the citizens of California. No less real were the brave men who risked their lives trying to rid the country of them. This story of Joaquin Murrieta will be familiar to the early residents of California. There are people still living who can point out places where the terrible bandit was accustomed to stop. The author remembers one such spot indicated by an old resident of Los Angeles. It was on the famous little street known as Mercantile Place, extending from Spring street to Broadway. This street has been covered by a business arcade building, but in the days when houses stood on both sides of the street, there was one which was frequently visited by the young bandit.

Garden enthusiasts are already familiar with the writings of Sydney B. Mitchell. His "Gardening in California" is used as an authority by gardeners in general. It was intended as a manual of concise information. His new book "From a Sunset Garden" is written in quite a different mood. It contains a great deal of information, but is a more personal account of the pleasures to be found in a garden.

The author has a home with a large garden in the Berkeley Hills which overlook Golden Gate. Here he has tried many new things. In this book he tells in a delightful style of his experiments and their results. The words are adorned by charming photographs taken by Paul Melichas and Alma Lavenson of the author's garden. We are told many new and interesting things about plants and planting. In his first chapter we are given some good advice as to making the garden attractive at all seasons. Various flowers and flowering shrubs such as daffodils, tulips, lilies, dahlias, delphiniums, azaleas, and fuchsias are discussed in an informing interesting manner. There is a chapter on native plants that every Californian should know.

His information will be of the greatest application to Pacific coast gardeners. The results of his experiments may be shared advantageously by all amateur gardeners. As a fascinating and appealing account of the loveliness of one garden, the book will be welcomed by all readers who honor beauty.

S. A. LIONS HEAR DISCUSSION OF FARM RELIEF

The domestic allotment plan for farm relief now before congress will not cure the ills of the farmers, and probably would not work, in the opinion of Arthur J. McFadden of Santa Ana, member of the regional agricultural credit corporation, in an address yesterday before the Santa Ana Lions club of which he is a member. Facetiously, he remarked that the complicated plan would not cure farm ills, but might cure the unemployment, by employing the thirteen million unemployed trying to make the scheme work.

The farm allotment plan involves a reduction of 20 per cent in acreage, and is proposed to be operative in any county when 65 per cent of the farmers of that county have signed up, he said. The plan, which he described as an effort toward artificial stabilization of prices, came out of the middle west, and is not approved by farmers of California and New England, he said.

McFadden stated the work of the farm board, while failing to stabilize prices, was still of great benefit, but he felt that the aims of co-operative farm marketing and artificial stimulation of prices should never have been delegated to the same board. He believes the farm board will be "eased out" of existence and its work taken over by the department of agriculture.

Contrasts Prices
As showing the plight of the farmers, McFadden stated that farm prices are only 43 per cent of a five year pre-war average, while the materials and supplies which farmers must purchase are 104 per cent of pre-war average. Twenty-seven per cent of all fruits and vegetables in interstate shipments are grown in California, the speaker declared, and contrasted present farm conditions with those obtaining in the early days of the nation.

Present farm surpluses are largely caused by two factors, McFadden stated: First, tractors and other modern machinery plow deeper and do the job when it is needed, thus increasing the production per acre, and second, 10 to 20 million acres formerly used for raising food for mules and horses are now going to raise food for humans with the advent of the tractor age and the elimination of horses and mules for carrying on farm operations.

A. I. Mellenthin was chairman of the club program yesterday and introduced the speaker as one well qualified by training and experience to talk about the efforts of the government to aid the farmers in helping themselves. Music was furnished by the always-popular junior college trio.

Conduct Funeral Of Mrs. Beckwith

LA HABRA, Jan. 20.—Funeral services for Mrs. Abbie Beckwith, of West Rost street, La Habra, who died late Monday night at her home, were held today from the parlors of McAulay and Suters in Fullerton.

Mrs. Beckwith passed away suddenly. She had been a resident of La Habra for the past three years. Her brother, Ames L. Smith, made his home with her.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Pearl Armstrong, of Santa Paula, and Mrs. Ruth Lederle, of Los Angeles; one son, Fred Beckwith, of Santa Paula; three sisters and two brothers.

Guild Of Church In Brea Convenes

BREA, Jan. 20.—A social meeting of the guild of the Congregational church was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. R. Williams, with Mrs. H. H. Hardy and Mrs. L. H. Newell sharing hostess duties.

Members brought their needlework. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon. The next meeting of the guild will be a business meeting February 1, with Mrs. L. A. Hogue, new president, presiding for the first time.

Those present were Mesdames R. W. Spensley, O. S. Close, C. R. Negley, L. A. Hogue, H. C. Smith, J. L. Thwing, Mabel Smith, S. W. Verner, George Folkemer, J. M. Gouley, Dave Goodwin, R. M. Rose, Stella Keene, J. H. Griest, Donald Gaylord, A. D. Yost, George Gesme, John Duling, J. D. Neuls and T. E. Moore.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED
LA HABRA, Jan. 20.—Mrs. H. H. Peabody entertained with a birthday party, honoring her little son, Dickie, and Donald Proud, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Proud, of La Habra. The dinner table was centered with a birthday cake bearing little animals of cake.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Proud and three children, Miss Nadine Hertfield, Ward W. Perkins and Mr. and Mrs. Peabody and three children.

LAND TITLES

By Wm. M. Weeks

SECOND INSTALLMENT

Since all progress in life is along the road of contrasts, we now come to a comparison of these two land title systems in order to determine their degree of efficiency or individual merit.

With this county as an example, we have some sixty or seventy thousand resident and non-resident owners of all the land in Orange county. It is their desire, at various times to either convey, lease or otherwise encumber their property. They naturally wish to do this as quickly, cheaply and safely as possible.

Taking them up in that order, we will compare the two systems of title insurance with the system of recording which can be completed under either.

As the greater number of transactions are escrowed it will be well to begin with that first phase of the process.

In an escrow both parties to a deal are brought together under the skilled supervision of a third party (the escrow officer) who elicits all necessary and pertinent information from them as to what each proposes to do and secures a signed statement from each to that effect.

Under the recording system, an order is then placed with a title insurance company for a policy of title insurance with a request for a preliminary report in order to verify the statements of the seller as to the condition of his title. From the time the order is so placed until a report is returned and the parties notified requires from two days to a week and often much longer.

Under the registration system that time and expense is eliminated entirely because the purchaser or his agent simply inspects the original certificate on file in the office of the county registrar, which is an exact and up-to-the-minute reflection of the condition of title.

Papers Drawn
Upon such verification by the title insurance company and consequent advice to the parties involved, the necessary papers are drawn to effect the full transfer of the property. This could not have been done earlier as, under the recording system, an owner never knows when a document may be recorded by another that might inadvertently affect his title; nor can the title insurance company afford to draw up the final papers (the validity and accuracy of which they are to insure) until a careful examination of the records has disclosed the exact and proper description of the property, the actual status of the ownership together with the correct spelling of the names (as of record) and the true condition of all encumbrances.

Only then, can the papers be drawn and the seller again brought in for his signature to the conveying instruments. Then, after a final and last minute search to cover the time between the report from the title company to the date and minute between the report from the title company to the date and minute of the actual recording of the papers (for anything can happen in a day or two where the record accumulation is uncontrolled) the papers are recorded and a policy of title insurance written up, as of that date hour and minute.

So, it is quite obvious that, because the registration system provides a title that is always up to date and its condition ascertainable upon a moment's notice, it is a great improvement over the recording system, where the same result can be secured only after the expenditure of considerable time in delving into a voluminous and faulty record.

Also, it is the duty and responsibility of the registrar to be extremely careful and particular in registering the various instruments offered so that no registered title may become clouded because of a faulty document being filed. Consequently, the time necessary to secure quiet claim deeds, judgments quieting title etc., under the recording system, is practically obviated by wise preventative measures of the registration act which preclude the normal possibility of such contingencies arising.

Costs Higher
All who have owned land are familiar with the seemingly never ceasing costs of mortgaging and conveying under the recording system. Recording fees are necessarily high because of the costly record books and the expense of painstakingly copying every document into them.

The registration system requires only that the documents be filed with the registrar who, after making a memorial of such instrument upon the certificate affected, places such paper itself in a permanent file where it may be referred to at any time. Such an operation under the registration system and therefore the individual is charged but a small fee.

It there were but one title insurance company in each county, they would be able to issue policies at a greatly lesser cost and charge than they now can where there are several and each gets but a portion of all the business to be had. Therefore, the property owner is now supporting several large title organizations in addition to the heavy costs of a rapidly growing recording system.

Due to the innate simplicity of the registration system, the registered owner pays but a small fee for the filing of his various documents and a proportionately light charge for the issuance of new certificates when his property changes hands. Compared with that of the title insurance companies, the registrar's charges are negligible.

And it must be borne in mind that a policy of title insurance is good only to the minute, hour and date written. It will cost just as much for a policy written on the succeeding day on the same property.

A Torrens certificate is truly representative of the condition of title at any time, regardless of its date of issuance. Why? Because it is the sworn duty of the registrar to so maintain it. Therefore its worth or value is continuous and not merely periodical, as under a policy of title insurance.

And finally comes the point of security. On the one hand a private organization makes a written statement as to their own opinion of the condition of your title at a certain time and bets you a certain amount (the amount of the policy) against a smaller sum (the amount you pay them for the policy) that they are right as to the particulars of their opinion. If, later on, someone proves the title insurance company to have been at fault, the court will uphold the rights of a just claimant, the insured will lose the equity involved and be reimbursed by the title insurance company only to the amount of his policy, regardless of any appreciated or accreted value attaching subsequent to the date of his policy of insurance.

On the other hand, if you are a Torrens owner and your property has been registered more than one year, you have nothing to worry about. Any claims, other than registered claims, can be made only against the state.

In effect, the act of registration means just this; after taking all practical and necessary care in being sure the property is actually yours and holding the matter open for one year, in order to be doubly sure, the state takes over the full responsibility of guarding your title against fraud and unregistered claims. It stands by the registered owner and any claim originating prior to the date of registration and, through the registrar, validates any future transactions.

In actual fact, the registered owner, though master in possession of his land, is no longer complete master of his title. For, notwithstanding his free will to convey or encumber his property when he wishes, the manner of so doing must be in accordance with the methods prescribed by the state, through the land registration act, in order that the rights and property of others may not be needlessly injured.

In all courts a policy of title insurance or any other written opinion, from a private party, may be accepted or rejected according to its determined merits. The California law specifically states (section 42 of the land registration act) "The register of any land, and duly certified copies thereof, shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be received in law and equity as evidence of the facts therein stated, and as conclusive evidence that the person named therein as owner is entitled to the land for the estate or interest therein specified."

State Responsible
As for the security of those who may possess or wish to acquire a lesser estate than an interest in fee simple, such as an option or contract to purchase, a lease, mortgage, right of way or other equity, the act provides under various sections that "No person taking a transfer of registered land or any estate or interest therein, or of any charge upon the same, from the registered owner, shall be held to inquire into the circumstances under which, or the consideration for which, such owner or any previous registered owner was registered, or be affected with notice, actual or constructive, of any unregistered trust, lien claim demand or interest" and that "no unregistered estate, interest, power, right, claim or trust shall prevail against the title or a registered owner taking bona fide for a valuable consideration, or of any person bona fide claiming through or under him."

And that, boiled down to its very essence, means that a Torrens certificate shall be taken at its face value at all times, as much so as any other government currency and that the state government makes itself responsible for the verity and legality of its certificate of ownership, as does the Federal government in standing behind its gold certificates.

Since the registration system, is so much less costly to the property owner and is so superior in operation and security than is the recording system, then why is it that the former is little known and used while the latter flourishes as a well paying and respected business?

Mainly, because of the property owner being ignorant of this fine law's benefits in striking contrast to the burdens of the other system.

And certainly, it is not to the interests of those commercially connected with the recording system to enlighten them. In fact, it has been to the interests of no one other than the unorganized tax payers, themselves, to see that the California Land Registration act is permitted to come into general operation and acceptance, and in fulfillment of the desire so unanimously expressed by them in 1914.

TEACHERS HEAR TWIN LABELED PSYCHOLOGIST

Speaking on one of the earlier and almost unknown works of Mark Twain, John Adams of the University of California at Los Angeles addressed the meeting of the Orange County Principals and Teachers association at La Habra last night.

The book spoken of was "What Is Man?" written by Mark Twain, early in his career. Talking further on the psychology of Twain, the speaker said that the author wanted to be taken seriously and that in his opinion Twain was one of the greatest psychologists and wrote the doctrine of the determinist.

Adams was formerly connected with the University of London and also Aberdeen college in Scotland.

Arthur Corey of Buena Park, assistant county school superintendent, gave a talk on the present legislative bills which he illustrated with an "elementary school support" chart, showing the source of income for school purposes, and the methods of collection and distribution and then the school budget.

More than 90 teachers from all parts of the county attended the dinner which preceded the meeting.

ROBINSON FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Ella Bevier Robinson, 78, resident of Santa Ana and Orange county for 40 years who died this week, were held from the chapel of the Harrell and Brown Funeral home yesterday afternoon, with the Rev. Francis Watry, former Unitarian minister of this city, officiating.

Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Well known in Orange county, Mrs. Robinson and her husband had ranches near Olive for some time after they moved to Orange county from San Diego in 1893.

She is survived by her husband, Jaytha Robinson; three children, Bevier Robinson of Long Beach, Cecil Robinson of Santa Ana and Natalie Robinson Ede of Los Angeles; one sister, Garetta J. Bevier of Napamook, N. Y., and two grandchildren.

Bellflower Home Scene of Party
BUENA PARK, Jan. 20.—Members of the Delta Card club were guests of Mrs. Bess Clanton Wednesday evening at her home in Bellflower. Tables were arranged for "500." Mrs. Winifred Sopha held high score, with Mrs. Kathleen Gage awarded second prize. Creamed chicken in pastry cups, hot rolls, coffee and cake were served by the hostess, with Mrs. Vera McKnight assisting. Mrs. Mona Dodd will entertain the club at her home in Bellflower on February 8.

VISIT BREA WOMAN
BREA, Jan. 20.—Brea friends of Mrs. R. G. Russell, still confined to the Garfield hospital in Monterey Park as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile wreck recently, are remembering her with flowers, messages and visits. Those who visited her Wednesday afternoon and evening were Mrs. L. A. Sayles, Mrs. A. H. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Max Joffis, Miss Louise Chapman, Miss Pearl Nemecheck, Miss Ollie Hill and Mrs. Stella Keene. Her condition is still such as to make it uncertain when she may be brought to her home here.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

SPECIAL MUSIC ARRANGED FOR SUNDAY NIGHT

ORANGE, Jan. 20.—Making one of their first appearances in Orange county, members of a radio quartet from California Christian college will provide special music for the evening service Sunday at 7 o'clock at the First Christian church, it was announced today by the pastor, the Rev. Franklin H. Minck.

The quartet, which sings over radio station KHJ each morning at 7:15 o'clock, is composed of William Julian, Ralph McCutcheon, Albert Harlan and Ray Lynn. The group will sing four numbers.

Mrs. Leon Des Larzes will sing "Not Understood" in preparation for the Rev. Mr. Minck's sermon, "Misunderstood."

The pastor stated today that the quartet program promises to be one of unusual merit.

Class Members Work On Quilt

ORANGE, Jan. 20.—R. P. C. class members who met yesterday in the home of Mrs. Fred Lentz, 164 South Olive street, spent the day working on a quilt. The quilt, of double wedding ring design, had been presented to the class members by their president, Mrs. Alta Stanley.

Those present were Mesdames Alice Bell, Daisy Barnes, Ella Horton, Gertrude Douglass, Mabel Fishback, Mildred Miller, Mary Williams, Cora Kolkhorst, Beatrice Watson, Neva Claypool, Marie Higgins, Lucille Buckles, Ruth Gilton and daughter, Joyce; Juanita Winget, Alta Stanley and the hostess, Mrs. Lentz, and her mother, Mrs. J. E. Dalley. Mrs. William Barnes was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held February 16.

Five Sisters At Party In Home Of Mrs. Alfred Leech

ORANGE, Jan. 20.—An interesting event of the week was the luncheon given in the home of Mrs. Alfred Leech, 426 East Chapman avenue, when five sisters shared a happy reunion, which is repeated in the home of the quintet on the birthday anniversaries. Mrs. Henry Adams, of Anaheim, was co-hostess with Mrs. Leech as both have birthdays in January.

The other sisters are Mrs. Cood Adams, of Tustin; Mrs. Arthur Bounie and Mrs. Arthur Lott, of Los Angeles. The two latter will be hostesses to the group in March. Two close friends of the sisters, former schoolmates, share the luncheon. They were Mrs. Hugh Plumb, a sister-in-law of one of the group, and Mrs. Roy Smith, both of Tustin. Mrs. J. A. Merick and sons, Billy and Jerry, of Oceanside, house guests in the Leech home, also were present. Mrs. Merick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leech.

A three-course luncheon was served and the table was centered with fragrant carnations. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Leech were the recipients of a handkerchief shower.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, Jan. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Johnson have moved from 154 South Citrus street to 656 West Palmyra avenue.

Mrs. Mae Lively, of Pasadena, is visiting her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Parsons, 254 North Grand street.

Dorothy Bullock, 173 South Lemon street, is en route to Kansas City, Kans.

Mrs. Henry Jevnager, 520 South Grand street, returned home Thursday afternoon from St. Joseph's hospital, accompanied by her baby daughter, Dolores, born there January 9.

Steve Davidson, 538 North Grand street, spent Thursday in Los Angeles.

MISSION WORK DISCUSSED AS SOCIETY MEETS

ORANGE, Jan. 20.—The work being done in national mission fields was reviewed when members of the Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church met yesterday at the church. Mrs. Ebel Niquette presided and Mrs. Parker Robertson was program chairman, taking the place of Mrs. Wilbur J. Woods, who was unable to be present.

Mrs. Earl E. Campbell gave a survey of missions maintained nationally using a map to show localities where the work is carried on. Missions are conducted for the Negroes, the American Indians, Mexicans, Japanese and Chinese, in lumber camps and in Alaska, she said.

Mrs. M. E. Baylor told of the work among the Eskimos in Alaska, described their home life and of the hospital care given to mothers in maternity wards. Miss Emma Williamson gave an interesting reading and Mrs. Gwendolyn Thompson told of the mission work done among the cranberry pickers in the northern states.

Mrs. C. W. Hollister, whose son, Ezra Hollister, is a teacher in the Kwany Wen middle school at Wei-Hsien, south of Shanghai, read extracts from his letters.

Mr. Hollister said that each state at the present time is governed by a general and many of the generals sell opium as a means of raising money. Mr. Hollister described a typhoon which he witnessed while on a visit to the coast where he bought American varnish at $20 a gallon. He said that one of the best dirt roads in China runs to the school and it is possible to attain a speed of 40 miles an hour on this highway.

Miss Grace Rowley of Santa Ana, who is missionary in China, is soon to begin a furlough. Mr. Hollister wrote. In the school there are 520 pupils and 33 teachers, all of whom are natives with the exception of the Orange county missionary.

CLUB ENTERTAINED IN LUTHERAN HALL

OLIVE, Jan. 20.—Mrs. William Gollin and Mrs. Edward Guenther entertained the Get-Together club at the social hall of St. Paul's church Wednesday afternoon for the regular meeting. The new officers, Mrs. George Boehner, president; Mrs. William Gollin, treasurer, and Mrs. Ed Guenther, secretary, assumed their duties. The annual report of the treasurer showed a substantial balance, even though the club has been very active during the past year in various activities.

The president appointed the following committees: Serving, Mrs. George Heinemann and Mrs. August Heinemann; visiting, Mrs. Emil Lemke and Mrs. George Lemke; entertainment, Mesdames Fred Kamrath, Fred Kianer, Robert Lemke, Emil Lemke, George Lemke and Henry Luchau.

A luncheon of zwiebackstorte and coffee was served to the following members: Mesdames Walter Timme, Arthur Paschall, Fred Kamrath, William P. Paulus, Henry Timken, August Heinemann, Walter Timken, Robert Lemke, George Heinemann, A. W. Schmid, Edwin Brelje, Fred Kianer, O. Burd, Emil Lemke, Martin Heiman, Herbert Meierhoff, William Gollin, Raymond Meierhoff, George Boehner, Edward Guenther and George Lemke.

Legion Post In Program February 2

ORANGE, Jan. 20.—A committee was appointed to complete arrangements for the program to be given at the American Legion clubhouse February 2, at a meeting of the Legion Post last night. Dr. W. M. Tipple was in the chair. The committee consists of Harvey Riggle, who is program chairman for the month of February; J. W. Castro, Claude Potter, W. S. Lentz, Dick Benson, George Franzen and Walter Brubaker.

An invitation was received from the American Legion auxiliary for the annual George Washington dinner given to post members. The dinner will be given February 24.

Bob Graham, chairman of the Boy Scout committee, reported that the Consolidated Rock company had given the American Legion Boy Scout troop permission to establish headquarters in the creek bed.

SHOWER IS HELD IN CYPRESS HOME

CYPRESS, Jan. 20.—The Bridgettes gave a shower for Mrs. H. A. Huengerdard at the home of Mrs. Charles Dooling recently. Mrs. Vida Snell was co-hostess. The honoree was the recipient of many presents. The afternoon was spent in playing bridge. Miss Evelyn Fitzgerald won first prize and consolation was awarded to Mrs. Dave Metz.

Those present were Miss Evelyn Fitzgerald, and Mesdames J. N. Fitzgerald, Pelton Doss, James Coburn, Steve Luther, Fred Mackay, Gerry Woods, Dave Metz, Mrs. Huengerdard, the honoree; Mrs. Vernon Snell and Mrs. Dooling, the hostesses.

After the card game a luncheon was served to the guests.

Luncheon Is Held In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 20.—A beautifully appointed luncheon was given at the home of Mrs. W. A. Wheeler Wednesday, when she was hostess to a group of friends.

Sweet peas in pastel shades centered each small table where the guests were seated. The same delicate shades of color were carried out in the nut cups, place cards and bridge tallies.

After a pleasant afternoon of bridge attractive prizes were awarded to Mrs. Letty Lee Robbins, who held high score, and to Mrs. Dorothy Jentges for low score.

The guest list included Mesdames Alice Smith, Mabel Dolg, Helen Woodworth, Ruth Wentz, Dorothy Jentges, Mertie Pulson, Glee Newmon, Pauline Merchant, Carrie Hennon, Letty Lee Robbins, Ethel Schuch, Mabel Williams, Louise Lake, Minnie Lynch, Alice Keel, Florence Barnes, Ida Mae Goodwin, Mae Pearson, Laura Smith, Mae Henry, of Garden Grove, and the hostess's sister, Doris Richardson, of Santa Ana.

Films Shown At Lions Luncheon

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 20.—L. L. Dolg, principal of the Garden Grove Union High school, gave an interesting speech and exhibited moving pictures at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday. He exhibited pictures of sword fishing off Catalina island and of the life on the bottom of the Atlantic. Dolg spoke on school bills before the legislature, stating that if the bills went through, it would work a hardship on all small school districts and increase the burden of taxpayers.

Charles Lake gave a report on the county council meeting held in Santa Ana Monday evening.

SPEAKS ON AQUEDUCT
BUENA PARK, Jan. 20.—The speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club was O. E. Steward of Anaheim. He discussed the Colorado river aqueduct and the problems in connection with its construction.

L. T. Wilsey gave a short report on the international district convention held recently in San Luis Obispo.

Bronchial Troubles Need Creomulsion

Bronchial troubles may lead to something serious. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR CHURCH GROUP

ORANGE, Jan. 20.—Officers were elected yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church. Installation will be held February 17 at a luncheon meeting to be held in the lower auditorium of the church.

Newly elected officers are: President, Mrs. Ethel Niquette; first vice president, Mrs. W. J. Sutherland; second vice president, Mrs. Earl E. Campbell; recording secretary, Mrs. Alvin O. Clifford; financial secretary, Mrs. George P. Campbell; treasurer, Mrs. W. C. Ahlmann; young people's councilor, Mrs. Harry Haynes; missionary educational secretary, Mrs. R. W. Jones; secretary of national missions and overseas sewing, Mrs. C. O. Powell; secretary of stewardship, Mrs. Anna L. Dille.

Members of the nominating committee were Mrs. F. M. Gullick and Mrs. Elmer S. Hayward. Group leaders are to meet shortly to make out programs for the coming year.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Earl E. Campbell and Mrs. Alvin O. Clifford served hot chocolate.

P.-T. A. Program Set For Feb. 17

OCEANVIEW, Jan. 20.—Observance of Founders' day by the Oceanview Parent-Teacher association was planned for the evening of February 17, at Wednesday evening's meeting. A pot-luck supper will open the evening's events under the supervision of the hospitality committee and the program of the evening will be directed by Mrs. E. Ray Moore and her committee.

Mrs. A. E. Holley was voted in as magazine chairman to replace Mrs. William Chapman, who has left the community. Mrs. Norma Murdy was chosen fourth grade mother in Mrs. Chapman's place.

In a discussion on the forming of a Mother's chorus, it was finally decided to accept the invitation of the Huntington Beach chorus and join with that group.

The Rev. W. A. Matson spoke, taking up the subject "Spiritual Training of the Child." Mrs. R. A. Shostag led the study circle of the day.

Farewell Party Held By Aid Body

LOS ALAMITOS, Jan. 20.—A farewell party was given this week for Miss Nina Duden and her mother, Mrs. Alma Duden, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Condra.

Members of the Aid society and their husbands and a group of former pupils of Miss Duden were among those attending.

At the close of the evening gifts were presented the honorees by Mrs. Lila Dornbus, president, on behalf of the Aid society. Miss Duden and her mother leave next week for Buena Park.

FRIENDLY HAND CLASS IN DINNER

ORANGE, Jan. 20.—The Friendly Hand class of the First Presbyterian church held its annual dinner meeting last night at the church. The event was in charge of Mrs. C. E. Wood, Mrs. Anna Larimer and Mrs. Vern O. Estes.

The class president, Vern Jenkins, made a talk on the importance of attendance at class sessions Sunday mornings. Mrs. Gusie White, of Long Beach, class teacher, spoke briefly and the meeting was opened by Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the church.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jenkins, Mrs. Gusie White, Mrs. C. E. Wood, Mrs. Anna Larimer, Mr. and Mrs. Vern O. Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nail of Santa Ana; Mrs. Ruth Riggle, Mrs. Carl Pister, Mrs. Lloyd Doncaster, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McClines, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krueger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caster, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hobbs, Mrs. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Hobbs and two children; Mr. and Mrs. Ensey Campbell of Garden Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wood, Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nordell of Santa Ana.

Olive Group In Social At Hall

OLIVE, Jan. 20.—The local branch of the Aid Association for Lutherans held its business meeting and social at the Lutheran school hall this week. Officers of the local branch are Edwin Brelje, president, and Mrs. William P. Paulus, secretary-treasurer.

After the business session cards were played and refreshments of chicken salad, sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. George Boehner and Mrs. August Matthees to the following members: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Timken, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lemke, Harold Paulus, Robert Paulus Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Meierhoff, Elmer Helm, Mr. and Mrs. George Boehner, Mr. and Mrs. George Heinemann, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Heim, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Paulus, Miss Meta Paulus, Paul Reusch, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Otte, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Guenther, Arnold Otte, Mr. and Mrs. August Matthees and Miss Leora Matthees.

"Perfect, Watson, Utterly Perfect!"

"At last, dear Watson, we have discovered the perfect crime! I have gone over this specimen of Tiernan-Rebuilt Typewriters with great thoroughness and I find no clue whatever to suggest that it was ever a second-hand machine!"

"True, the price is vastly less than for a new machine, and that's where the crime comes in, my dear Watson! The bally typewriter has been so perfectly rebuilt by those devilishly clever Tiernan workmen that I wouldn't for the life of me know that it was a rebuilt job unless Tiernan told me so!"

"I think I shall now retire, buy one of these machines, and write about the end of my life's quest!"

for rent!

For a trifling rental you can have the use of a calculating machine, comptometer, etc., for inventory or other work; you'll save time and money!

FASCINATING MAGIC 'CHANDU'S' APPEAL

The eternal fascination of magic furnished the inspiration for the story of "Chandu, the Magician," that gripping, spine-tingling radio serial heard twice daily over KREG, except Sunday and Monday. Through arrangements perfected by Shipkey & Pearson, distributors of Rio Grande gasoline in Orange county, "Chandu" is heard at 12 noon and 6:45 o'clock in the evening.

Listeners-in are thrilled by feats of magic, ranging from the occult mysteries of the Far East to subtle psychological devices that a modern scientist might employ. The occult mystery drama was written by Harry A. Earnshaw.

Vera M. Oldham and R. R. Morgan. The advertising firm of Earnshaw-Young of Los Angeles, of which Earnshaw and Morgan are executives, have placed the weird story over many radio stations, KREG having been added to the list this week.

Junior Violin Ensemble Plays On Air Tonight

Tonight's presentation of the Elwood Bear junior violin ensemble at 8 o'clock, promises to be a distinct feature over KREG.

An interesting program has been arranged by Mr. Bear which includes Fritche's "March Rondo," "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn, and a Russian melody entitled, "Two Guitars." One or two other selections will likewise be heard during the quarter hour period. The personnel of the ensemble, all pupils of the Elwood Bear violin school of Santa Ana, is: Audrey Hopkins, Mercedes Kellough, Barbara Lambert, Sylvia White, Robert Forsey, Todd Drake, Leo and Lloyd Robbins, Richard Keelie and Melvin Henson. Beatrice Granas is the accompanist.

Junior College Press Club Will Present Program

Offering another program by the Jaycee Press club, the Santa Ana Junior college will go on the air this evening at 8:30 with another of their weekly KREG broadcasts.

Tonight's presentation will feature Miss Verna Helm, winner of the 1932 Orange County Atwater Kent Audition. She will be heard in a number of selections, as will Phillip Saxelos, vocalist, and Earl Scott, saxophonist.

The featured speaker of the evening will be Sam Churchill, who will talk on the objectives and work of the Press Club at the local junior college. This program will be the third to be presented by this organization during the current school year.

"BRICK" ENGLISH ORCHESTRA ON AIR

"Brick" English and his musical merry-makers, now engaged in supplying the dance music at the Valencia Rendezvous ballroom near Santa Ana, will once again hold the spotlight over KREG this evening. Beginning at 7 o'clock, they will be heard in a half hour of tuneful dance music.

Since their appearance over the local station, the "Brick" English orchestra has caught the fancy of listeners-in. The original intention was to feature them only three evenings last week but the public response to their playing was so overwhelming, that arrangements were perfected whereby they would be heard in a similar schedule this week. They will again be heard tomorrow evening at the same time.

An interesting repertoire has been arranged by English for this evening's half-hour program, including a theme song which he himself, composed and which was heard for the first time last night. He is anxious to receive suggestions for a title to his new song, for which prizes will be given those submitting the most acceptable titles. Announcement to this effect will be made on tonight's program.

The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce will celebrate its thirteenth anniversary in a special program to be heard over a nation-wide NBC net work including KFI between 7:30 and 7:45 o'clock tonight. Henry I. Harriman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and Courtlandt Oils, president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the speakers.

Rice W. Means, former United States senator from Colorado, will speak over a National Broadcasting company network including KPSD, at 7:45 o'clock tonight, on "Spanish War Veterans' Pensions." Colonel Means was formerly commander-in-chief of both the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the United Spanish War Veterans.

Aided by Ernie Nevers, "Red" Grange and Curley Lambeau, coach of the Green Bay Packers, NBC will present a Football Rally over NBC network including KPSD, at 8:30 o'clock tonight, in honor of the forthcoming Knights of Columbus charity gridiron spectacle between Ernie Nevers' All-Stars and the Green Bay Packers. The game will be played on January 22 at Kezar Stadium, San Francisco.

The Beaux Arts Ball, to be held at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, New York, tonight, will be described over the Columbia network, including KFI, by Ted Husing from 9 to 9:30 o'clock. The Beaux Arts Ball will take the form of an imaginary world cruise on the S. S. He de France, and guests will come "aboard" in the native costumes of any of the ports of call—Morocco, Bali, Tahiti, Naples, and other picturesque cities.

Claude Debussy's opera "Pelléas et Mélisande" with Lucreezia Bori and Edward Johnson singing title roles, will be heard on the air for the first time during the broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera house at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow, over an NBC transcontinental network, including KPCA and KPSD. The opera, the second and third acts of which will be broadcast, is a mystic drama based on Maeterlinck's romance of the same name.

Ernest Schelling, conductor, and the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra will commemorate the centenary of the birth of Johannes Brahms, great German composer, during the Children's and Young People's Concert to be broadcast over the Columbia nationwide network, including KFI, from 8 to 9:15 a. m. tomorrow.

Indigestion, Gas, Pains

If you're troubled with distress from stomach—gas, and your blood needs enriching, there's nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Read what Mrs. Janette Frazier says:

2428 Union Ave., Bakersfield, says: "My meals would distress me, I had much gas on my stomach and suffered from gas pressure with pains around the heart. I was miserable until I started taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, but a few bottles soon regulated my digestive organs perfectly and I was soon enjoying my meals again."

Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y. for free medical advice.

Assisting artists on the all-Brahms program will be Hilda Lashanska, soprano; Michel Plaster, violinist; and Alfred Wallenstein, cellist.

ILLUSTRATION OF CONDITIONS ON FARM GIVEN

The plight of the American farmer was illustrated yesterday in department one, superior court when Thomas McCollum, Villa Park rancher, testified as to his financial condition in the trial of the divorce suit filed by his wife, Mrs. Florence McCollum.

He told of mortgages past due, water bills unpaid, crop orders issued against his orange crop and as to the probable value of his present crop when it goes to market this year.

Mrs. McCollum, who filed suit for divorce after five months of married life, alleged that her husband had mismanaged her son by a former marriage, had failed to keep a pre-marital agreement that his two sisters, Mrs. Callie Horton and Mrs. Olive Hadley, would no longer live in his home and that he was indifferent toward her or her suggestions as to their mutual recreation. She is asking for a decree of divorce, $75 monthly alimony, $500 attorney's fees, and $50 court costs.

McCollum, in a cross-complaint alleged that shortly after their marriage his wife started "nagging" him about insurance and a deed to a portion of his 15-acre ranch. He said that he offered to deed her a certain parcel of the property but that she insisted on a deed to the five acres upon which the home was built.

He denied mistreating her son by a former marriage, but in response to her charge that he was indifferent toward her suggestions as to recreation revealed a decided aversion to motion pictures featuring Marlene Dietrich and favoring Will Rogers pictures.

During Mrs. McCollum's time on the witness stand yesterday, everyone was excluded from the courtroom at the request of Mrs. McCollum's attorney. The reason for this exclusion was not made clear.

Unable to complete the taking of testimony yesterday the case was resumed at 11 o'clock this morning, before Superior Judge H. G. Ames.

S. A. BOY GETS FLORIDA PET AFTER DELAY

"Little Oscar," baby alligator who measures but 12 inches in length, was basking in the sunlight of popularity in the nature study department of the high school, contented after having suffered harrowing experiences after having been lost in the mail for several weeks.

There was a mystery about the tiny alligator shipped from Tampa, Fla., by Mrs. W. H. Nelson to an address which was unintelligible on the clear box in which the little fellow has made the long journey to California.

Oscar was out of luck so far as arriving at his intended destination was concerned, but he had a big break when Miss Grace Tooker, postmaster at Santa Monica, fixed up quarters for him in the form of a little gold fish bowl and a little board to sun himself on when he felt like loafing—which was nearly all the time.

The only part of the address which could be read was "Murray Mac—" and it was only a few days ago that it was learned that the gator had been shipped to Murray Mac Patton, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Patton, 1603 French street, Santa Ana.

Dr. Patton, during the Christmas holidays, had made several inquiries about a package due to arrive here from his son's aunt in Florida, but Superintendent of Mails L. F. Harvey never connected the arrival of Oscar in Santa Monica with the package expected here.

Admirers in the Santa Monica postoffice dubbed the alligator "Little Oscar," and the name has stuck.

Mrs. Patton remarked that while the alligator might be attractive now, she did not believe he would make a very good pet after he grew up.

L. A. PRODUCE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Trading was very slow on this morning's market with limited buying demand on account of present rainy weather. Growers anticipated a good market and brought fairly liberal supplies of most vegetables. Prices generally were unchanged from yesterday, primarily because of the lack of trading demand and the few sales made.

Artichokes $2.50-$4.00 a box, fair $2.50-$2.75, small badly frosted $1.50 to $1.75.

Local cauliflower 40-50c field crate.

COOKS RUTH TELLS 'INSIDE' OF PAY SQUAD WEEK

Improved Teamwork Gives Saints 31-16 Win

WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Crass materialism, or shall we call it our de-emphasis has swept the slim racing shells from the river. Poughkeepsie will be just another Hudson harbor June 26. The broad-backed, mighty-muscled heroes of other years, shooting their slim shells along under the great bridge, will not be there.

You may remember the scream that went up concerning football overemphasis for several years before the 1932 grid season. Talk of professionalism and proselytizing, huge gates, and all that.

EVIL FOR GOOD

Well, it seems we had a de-emphasis. Last year the old football gate just wasn't what she used to be. Admission prices were reduced in many quarters, but the fans stayed away in flocks.

Here is the result. Old Man River will bear no colorful burden as he rolls past Poughkeepsie in an otherwise perfect June. The last pure college sport has been martyred because the game they branded unclean has not earned enough dirty money to maintain rowing in the style to which it had become accustomed. A couple of well, well!

THE STORY OF STANFORD

Romance danced along the sunset-shimmering waters on that June day at Poughkeepsie as the strong backs bent in rhythmic beat and those colorful galleys glided along.

There was the storied rivalry of the Glendens, Ebrightes, Ten Eycks, Courtneys and other vaunted coaches. Not this year!

Then there was the day in 1915 when a handful of willful men from Stanford appeared mysteriously. There was no college fund to defray their expenses. How they managed to cross the country never has been told. They put their last times on the line to pay the freight on their shell and bumped their way as best they could.

They had no coach, with megaphone to shout instructions from a launch as they stroked their shell up and down the Hudson. Their equipment, besides the shell, was eight sets of trunks and an awful lot of nerve. The river currents meant nothing to them. They had never participated in four-mile races.

JUST CAME TO ROW

Those Stanford boys of 1915 seemed to me to typify a spirit of splendid sportsmanship. Off the records, they didn't have a chance. Highly-trained eastern crews had been so well prepared for the race that the coxswains knew every stroke in the mile.

When they knew about four-mile racing, these stalwarts learned as they went along. Their only system was to keep up with the others and pass them when the pinch came.

Passing the two-mile flag they were going strong. Over the third mile they kept gaining on the leaders. As they pushed their fragile shell under the railroad bridge, at the three-mile mark, they had passed all the others but Cornell.

In that last grueling mile, the raw youths from the Pacific gained, beat after beat, on proud Cornell. The tiring Ithaca crew just managed to keep a shade in front as the two shells darted across the finish line.

STILL IN THE RACE!

The Stanford boys didn't know the race was over. Increasing the number of strokes to the minute, they kept on gaining speed after the four miles were done, while a Cornell crew drooped and sagged over the oars.

They might have driven that little boat right up to Pier 9, New York City, if a motor launch hadn't raced out and headed them off.

To get back home they had to sell their shell, but that paid the fare of only a few of the gallant boys. The others remained in Poughkeepsie washing dishes until they could nurse enough coin together to make the trip.

Great stories have been real at Old Poughkeepsie.

HARRY HINCHMAN DEAD

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 20.—(INS)—Baseball lost another of its old-time stars today with the death of Harry Hinchman, 54, former second baseman for the Cleveland Indians and manager of the Toledo Mudhens. Death was caused by heart disease.

WRIGHT SIGNS WITH DODGERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Capt. Glenn Wright, shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers, wired friends today he had signed his 1933 contract. He took a salary cut.

Santa Ana 21, Glendale 16.
Friday-Saturday Games
San Diego at Pasadena (double-header); Alhambra at Long Beach.

One step nearer an all-time Santa Ana high school basketball record, Coach Bill Cook's Saints today enjoyed their third Coast Preparatory league victory—a 31-16 rout of Glendale's De-namiters—and at the same time focused attention on their two remaining games with Alhambra and Pasadena in Andrews gymnasium Tuesday and Friday next week.

Although defeated by Alhambra 22-15 and Pasadena 27-24 in games of the first round, the Saints showed through their decisive victory here last night that they will have an even chance against the Moors and Bulldogs in second meetings.

Eliminating most of the roughness that characterized their play in other games, Santa Ana's "football team" of Allen Kidder and Frances Conrad, forwards; Walt Hendrie, center; Clair Preiner and Bob Wimbush, guards, impressively opened the Glendale contest by earning a 20-10 lead in the first half.

Aided by the 10-point margin, Coach Cook's other regular outfit of Ernie Acker and Western Sprague, forwards; Fred Wiener, center; Al Thelen and Bob Schwarm, guards, took the floor in the third quarter, and held a decided advantage over the tiring visitors.

Glendale was outclassed by both Santa Ana combinations, Wimbush and Conrad starting in the first group, Sprague and Schwarm in the second. Wimbush and Conrad led the Saints' offensive attack with 7 points. Sprague scored 10 on as many foul shots.

Late in the fourth quarter Regulars Smith and Alberts of the visitors were removed with four persons, and each of the Glendale forwards had been charged with three fouls. Santa Ana committed 10, Glendale 13 for a surprising total of 23.

With Richard Clem and Tom Lacy siding for the Saints, Coach Clyde Patton's Class B artists dropped a 20-24 decision to the powerful Glendale "Bees," who have earned six victories. The Dynamiter coach remarked after the game that the Saint team was one of the strongest his men have faced this season.

The lineup:

Cub Advance Guard Due In L. A. Feb. 23

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Mike Kreevich, outfielder, is the only Chicago Cub to be shipped back to the Los Angeles baseball club of the Pacific Coast league, President William Veeck of the Cubs declared today.

"Manager Charles Grimm wants to give all his players a chance in spring training," Veeck said.

The Cubs, he said, would keep Pitcher Leroy Herrman and Catcher Gilly Campbell.

Advance guards of the Cubs and New York Giants will arrive here on a special train February 23, Veeck revealed.

The regulars will arrive a week later. The Cubs will train at Catalina, the Giants at Wrigley field here.

DOUBLE WINDUP SCHEDULED FOR DELHI'S ARENA

Featuring once again America's amateur featherweight champion, Johnny Hines, a double main event will be offered at the Orange County Athletic club next Tuesday night.

Hines will box Pete Gutierrez of Wilmington, the hardest-punching 128-pounder in Southern California simon-pure ranks; Frankie Catalina, Los Angeles, and Raoul Solis of Delhi meeting in the other half of the double feature. A gold belt, emblematic of the Pacific Coast junior featherweight title, will be awarded the winner, according to Matchmaker Kid Mexico.

Hines was scratched from last week's card, a shoulder injury necessitating the last minute substitution of an entire new main event. But the champion will be back Tuesday as able as ever. He draws a tough customer in Gutierrez who knocked out Bill Wana, Westminster's pride, in a round on the occasion of Gutierrez's one appearance here.

Delhi officials believe they have a "natural" in the Catalina-Solis set-to. It is a rematch of last Tuesday's semi-windup in which Catalina was given an unpopular and questionable decision over the young local favorite. Solis' splendid showing against Catalina stunned the latter's handlers, who thought the Delhi boy was a soft touch.

Catalina, having recently manhandled George Goodman of Chicago, Golden Gloves champion at 122 pounds.

The rest of the card:

Bill Wana, Westminster, vs. Roy (Knockout) Johnson, Los Angeles, 138 pounds.

Larry Prah, San Pedro, vs. Baby Sid Solis, Delhi, 128 pounds.

Jesse Sanchez, Talbert, Fred Lopez, Wilmington, 126 pounds.

Carlo Carlson, San Pedro, vs. Paul Brown, Santa Ana, 126 pounds.

Doyle Richards, Santa Ana, vs. Benny Gomez, Delhi, 165 pounds.

Bill Manzo, Santa Ana, vs. Lavey Gatto, Santa Ana, 140 pounds.

Al Ponce, Talbert, vs. Vic Croso, Santa Ana, 136 pounds.

Kid Abayto, Talbert, vs. Abe (Lefty) Serrano, Santa Ana, 120 pounds.

When Campbell streaked 23.9 miles an hour last year, Bluebird was propelled by a 1400-horsepower motor. Dissatisfied with this speed, Campbell yanked out the 1400-horsepower business and replaced it with a "hush-hush" (don't ask us what it is) motor developing about 2500-horsepower. The new engine is of the special Rolle-Royce type which gained the world's air speed record in the British Schneider trophy machine last year, and was lent to Campbell by the British air ministry.

The tail of the machine has been lowered and the ground clearance lowered since last year, and a special type of multiple disc clutch has been used to take the extra power given off by the engine.

When Bluebird heads down the measured course, her motors roaring full blast, huge lead weights will be strapped to her side. Engineers advised the ballast, believing that the car, despite its weight, would take off like an airplane at 300 miles an hour.

The foot accelerator is much larger than is found in the usual racing car. The reason for this is that if Campbell's foot slipped off the pedal while going full tilt, the sudden decrease in speed would send the car into a series of giant somersaults.

One more little item and we're through. Bluebird's tires have only the thinnest stretch of rubber over the cord. Experiment proved that the tires are cooler at 300 miles per hour than they are when the car is "loafing" along at 250.

Tomorrow, unless the Technocrats get us, we'll give you a few facts about Sir Malcolm, millionaire, racer, big game hunter, and the pride and joy of the occults.

What sort of a gal is this Bluebird, anyway? Well, she's fast for one thing. And she's no spring chicken, either, having been with Sir Malcolm since 1924. Of course, her face has been lifted several times. So often in fact that the front axle and steering wheel are her only original parts.

Bluebird's pretty hefty, too, weighing about four and one-half tons.

When Campbell streaked 23.9 miles an hour last year, Bluebird was propelled by a 1400-horsepower motor. Dissatisfied with this speed, Campbell yanked out the 1400-horsepower business and replaced it with a "hush-hush" (don't ask us what it is) motor developing about 2500-horsepower. The new engine is of the special Rolle-Royce type which gained the world's air speed record in the British Schneider trophy machine last year, and was lent to Campbell by the British air ministry.

British Daredevil Ships Car for New Speed Attacks

5 MILES A MINUTE HIS AIM

BY HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Somewhere out on the broad Atlantic, traveling at a speed which must bore her to death, is Bluebird, the racing car in which that top man among the daredevils, Sir Malcolm Campbell, hopes to establish a new world's speed mark next month.

Bluebird, looking even more like something out of the other world than last year, was swung aboard the Berengaria Tuesday, Sir Malcolm, busy, with his will perhaps, will follow in a week or so.

Bluebird may not know it, but she is going to work hard down there by the sad sea waves of Daytona. For her master, whose chief ambition in life is to travel on land 300 miles an hour (that a mere five miles a minute, one mile every 12 seconds) says he plans to do just that.

What sort of a gal is this Bluebird, anyway? Well, she's fast for one thing. And she's no spring chicken, either, having been with Sir Malcolm since 1924. Of course, her face has been lifted several times. So often in fact that the front axle and steering wheel are her only original parts.

Bluebird's pretty hefty, too, weighing about four and one-half tons.

When Campbell streaked 23.9 miles an hour last year, Bluebird was propelled by a 1400-horsepower motor. TUSTIN-ORANGE STRUGGLE MAY PRODUCE CHAMP

ORANGE LEAGUE STANDINGS

	W. L. Pct.
Tustin	10 2 .692
Orange	8 4 .667
Brea-Olinda	7 5 .583
Huntington Beach	6 6 .500
San Juan Capistrano	5 7 .417
Anaheim	4 8 .333
Newport Harbor	3 9 .250
Garden Grove	2 10 .167

Tustin and Orange, schools that have dominated Orange league basketball for many years, meet at Orange tonight, and the 1933 ruler of the county conference may emerge from the ruins.

Their contest is the stand-out of a third round schedule which also sends Anaheim to Brea-Olinda, Garden Grove to Huntington Beach and Newport Harbor to San Juan Capistrano.

League champion and runner-up in '32 for the Southern California prep streamer, Orange rules a slight favorite over Bill Cole's "Terrible Tilters," who won the title in '30 and '31 without the loss of a game. Orange's margin is so slight, however, as to be almost negligible. Orange beat Anaheim, 13-9, and Garden Grove, 26-14. Tustin won from Anaheim, 30-23, from Garden Grove, 30-22.

This will be the valdictory for Herb Lawrence, Tustin's slim, sharpshooting center, an all-league choice in '32 and for three years a regular on Tiller quintets. Lawrence turns 21 next week, no longer will be eligible for prep athletics.

Another Tustin regular, Charles Crumley, guard, graduates after next Friday's tussle with Brea-Olinda, so Tustin will be badly crippled for the last half of its schedule.

Coach Cole intends to use his tiny-mite forwards, George Padina and Dean Brown, at forward, Lawrence at center, Crumley and Charles Kiser at guard. Coach "Hod" Chambers of Orange will come on with Walt Gunther and Ted Walker at forward, Bob Blanchard at center, Ralph McBride and Paul Spennetta at guard.

The game is booked for Orange 8:30 p.m. at the Orange gymnasium. There will be a Class B preliminary at 7.

Anaheim, twice beaten, is not conceded much chance of turning back Coach Otto Hornaday's formidable Brea-Olinda, conquerors of San Juan Capistrano and new "dark horse" of the titular chase. Hornaday has constructed a fine scoring machine with Ray Thompson and Arlie Slayton at forward, Kenny Reynolds at center, and Kermit Canon and Jack Stewart at guard. The Wildcats beat Capistrano, 29-20, and buried Newport Harbor, 44-18.

In most of these games Frank Wyckoff, Southern California sprint star, will run against Emmett Topino, New Orleans flash. In addition Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette university, National collegiate champion in the 100 and 220 yard events, and National A. A. U. champion in the 100 and 200 meters, is virtually certain to run against them.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Kind Frezy took the trap in and said, "I think I understand the way to open up this thing. I've seen such traps before."

"I must be careful as can be," the spring is very strong, you see, also must be careful with the east. Its paw is sore."

As Windy watched, he said, "It's true that it is very nice of you to be kind to that animal, but are you safe from harm?"

"I wonder, when the beast is free, it'll get wild as wild as an be. Supposin' it should jump on you? That fills me with alarm."

Then Duncy added, "Windy's right! You may be in an awful light. Why, I have heard that very fox is tricky. Please watch out!

"When once the trap is open wide, we all should race away and hide. If anyone is caught 'twill be the end of him, no doubt."

This made old Frezy laugh aloud. Said he, "My what a funny crowd! You Tynmites imagine things that never will come true."

"Who said this was a fox, my son? Why, it's a tame dog, full of fun. I'm positive, when it is free, 'twill want to play with you."

"Then free it! Free it!" Coppy cried. "I'll gladly stand right by its side and pat it, so 'twill know that we are friendly little boys."

Just then the trap sprung open wide. "Well, there's your new friend," Frezy cried. The dog began to bark and, my, it made a lot of noise.

Wee Coppy did as he had said he would. He grabbed the big dog's head and said, "Hello there, pal! Now everything will be all right."

The other Tynites laughed in glee because it was a sight to see the Tynites' little rabbit friends all trying to hide from sight.

C. of C. Directors Favor War Debt Modification

REDUCTION OF ARMAMENT HELD AS CONDITION

Tabulated results on the two referendums sent out by the United States Chamber of Commerce to member organizations, which were voted on by directors of the local chamber and a special referendum committee, were announced today by Secretary George A. Raymer.

The 14 members of the combined groups voted unanimously in favor of the following matters in regard to payment of debts owed the United States by other countries:

"1. Further postponement of payments on the government debts due the United States should be authorized by Congress on a temporary basis in case of those debt countries showing inability to make present payments.

"2. Congress should give authority for negotiation of a modified agreement that will, promote the best interests of the United States upon a debtor country showing material changes in the bases of its existing debt agreement with the United States.

"3. Any modification of an existing debt agreement should be conditioned upon definite provisions for such treatment of our trade by the debtor country as will assure access of American goods to its markets on fair competitive terms.

"4. Modification of an existing debt agreement should be conditioned upon reduction in expenditures for armament.

"5. Proposals for the United States to cancel war debts owed by other countries should be rejected."

Voting on the question as to whether there should be federal legislation authorizing intra-state branch banking in all states by national banks, of prescribed size and under conditions and restrictions, as recommended by the committee, the group voted 10 to four in favor of the proposition.

The same vote was cast on the question of whether there should be federal legislation providing regulation of group banking, with conditions and restrictions, as recommended by the committee.

Voting on the banking propositions was as follows, with the first

Banking Matters

"Federal reserve banks should be expressly authorized to deny discounts to a member bank of the reserve system on a find the bank's lending operations are unsound; 11-3.

"Regulation of member banks in making security loans for the account of others than banks should be left to voluntary collective action of the banks themselves; 10-4.

"The board of directors of each federal reserve bank should be authorized to remove an officer or director responsible in a member bank for continued unsound banking practices; 11-3.

"Each bank in the future admitted to membership in the reserve system, through organization in the case of a national bank and through application in case of a state bank, should have capital of at least $50,000; 14-0.

"Permission should be continued for member banks to have affiliations with non-member banks under regulation; 14-0.

"Permission should be continued for member banks to have security affiliates, under regulation; 14-0.

"The right of member banks to conduct transactions in investment securities on their own account should be maintained; 14-0.

"Special agency of the federal government, with capital supplied by the government, reserve banks and member banks, should be created to make possible early dividends to depositors in member banks that have closed, and to liquidate assets; 14-0.

"Deposits in member banks should continue, as at present, to

TECHNOCRACY WILL REQUIRE SOCIAL CHANGE

That a fine adjustment in the social order of the world will be necessary before the successful application of the principles of Technocracy may be expected is the belief of the Rev. Perry Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church of Santa Ana, who addressed members of the Brea Lions club at their weekly luncheon yesterday.

The speaker quoted figures compiled from many industries showing the tremendous strides which have been taken by science and machinery in displacing man power. Everyone, he said, is interested in technocracy because of the possibilities it offers and because most of the other theories, communism, fascism, socialism and capitalism, have been exploded. The present system of political maneuvering must go, he declared, and men must be chosen for their ability instead of their political affiliations. The speaker was presented by Charles C. Kinsler, program chairman.

Supervisor LeRoy Lyons was a guest of Lion W. W. Hay, L. A. Hogue, who was to have presented Coach Howard Jones, reported Jones was unable to be present, but would be the speaker at next week's luncheon.

A report of the county council meeting in Santa Ana on Monday night was made. Eighteen Brea Lions attended and succeeded in bringing to Brea for the third successive month the silver cup for attendance at the county meeting.

be obligations of the banks without a guarantee system; 8-6.

"Development of agencies in the federal reserve system for the conduct of open-market operations should be left to administrative determination; 13-1.

"Membership of the secretary of the treasury upon the federal reserve board should be terminated; 10-4.

"The provisions of the Glass-Steagall act, permitting reserve banks to issue federal reserve notes with a minimum cover of 40 per cent in gold and the remainder in obligations of the federal government, should be extended another year, to March 3, 1934; 12-2.

"There should be immediate repeal of the emergency power given to reserve banks to make direct loans to business enterprises; 14-0.

"There should be legislation requiring early retirement of national bank currency upon government bonds to which, as an emergency measure, the circulation privilege was given in July, 1932; 12-2.

FAMED SCIENTISTS IN DRAMATIC DEBATE

Is the universe slowly being destroyed... or is it subject to a gradual process of re-creation? That was the dramatic subject for heated debate between the two celebrated physicists here shown as they appeared before members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Atlantic City. Dr. Robert A. Millikan, left, and Prof. Arthur H. Compton, both Nobel Prize winners, based their arguments on opposing theories of the nature of the cosmic ray. Between them are cosmic ray detectors used by the scientists in their research work.

BIG SCHEDULE ARRANGED AT Y NEXT WEEK

A busy week is forecast at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. with the list of events scheduled on the program as announced today.

Beginning with Monday night, when R. C. Smedley starts his new class in public speaking at 7:30, and continuing throughout the week, there are special features promised for every evening. Smedley's class was set to start last Monday night, but the heavy rain that evening interfered with the attendance, so that he has arranged to begin the regular instruction on the coming Monday instead.

Tuesday night brings the third session of the "Open Forum," with a presentation of the Metropolitan Water District. The history, plans and future possibilities of the great project, together with the employment opportunities it affords, will be discussed by Walter Humphrey, of Fullerton, Col. S. H. Finley, of Santa Ana, and other qualified speakers.

Tuesday afternoon brings the weekly session of R. R. Rusick's new health culture class for business men, which meets every Tuesday at five o'clock. A volleyball game is planned for the evening in the gymnasium.

Wednesday evening, in addition to the regular meeting of the Toastmasters club, the second round of the Commercial Basketball League will be played off. Weber's Bakery will play the Orange County Grocery company at 7, and the First National bank meets Joe's Grocery at 8.

Thursday night, the Employed Boys' Brotherhood meets at 8. The lobby entertainment for the evening will be a talk by Harry W. Lewis on "Walnut Growing" in Orange county. Lewis has some interesting pictures and a vast fund of entertaining information on the subject which should be heard by many.

Friday night, Smedley will conclude his talks on how to improve memory, and on Saturday evening, the Hi-Y and Junior-Y basketball leagues will have the right of way. The Y. M. C. A. invites all men and women who are interested to attend any or all of these special events during the week.

The regular gymnasium schedule, with gymnasium and swimming for boys on Monday and Thursday afternoons and Saturday morning, and for employed boys on Monday and Thursday evenings, is carried on without interruption. Classes for business men are held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning at 8 o'clock, and every evening at 5. The senior class meets Monday and Thursday nights at 8.

The chess club plays every Thursday night, and at present there is a lively contest in the form of a round-robin tournament in progress.

The Y. M. C. A. lobby is a center for many men and young men, and they are welcome there whether they are members of the organization or not, according to the secretaries in charge of the building.

FARM WOMEN DISCUSS NEW DEPARTMENT

Harriet G. Eddy, state home department agent met with women representatives of the various farm centers in the county at the Farm Advisors office in Santa Ana yesterday, to further the organization of a home department in Orange county and map out a plan for carrying on this work in conjunction with the regular farm center meetings.

The work will be taken up with a view to aiding in the center meetings and to give the women a definite part in these meetings, which it is hoped will not only increase the attendance but add new angles of interest, according to farm organization leaders.

A second meeting of this nature will be held at the farm advisors' office on February 2.

Attending the meeting yesterday were Mrs. A. F. Schroeder, of West Orange; Mrs. J. M. Gilbrath, Mrs. Freda Rogers and Mrs. F. L. Benson, of Garden Grove; Mrs. A. W. Stanley and Mrs. F. B. Browning, of Tustin; Mrs. N. W. Reneker, of Yorba Linda; and Mrs. R. E. Launer, of La Habra; E. E. Eastman, assistant farm advisor, R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Farm Bureau, and R. J. McFadden, farm bureau president.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

for LOVE or MONEY by CORLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mona Moran, receptionist in a Wall street law office, is in love with Barry Townsend, rich and socially prominent. She met Barry through Steve Saccarelli, her childhood sweetheart, who has returned to New York after three years' absence. Steve has been in South America, where, largely by chance, he has become associated with Barry, owner of a diamond mine long believed worthless. Together they have made the mine pay, and are now business partners. Steve owns a huge diamond mine, the Empress of Peru. Lottie Carr, fashion model, joins Mona, Barry and Steve on several dinner and dancing engagements.

Mona's brother, Bud, becomes involved with gangsters who plan to steal the big diamond. Steve suspects this, traps Bud and when he confesses, helps him escape to South America, where he is to have a job at the mine.

Some time later Barry invites Mona, Lottie and Steve to spend Sunda yat his uncle's palatial country home. They make the trip in Steve's roadster. Barry is a delightful host. However, when he and Mona are together he fails to propose.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

Mrs. Faxon joined the young people at luncheon. Elizabeth, Barry's sister, had telephoned, she said. Elizabeth, marrying early, was the mother of four frolicsome children and kept in daily touch with the Townsend ménage yet Mrs. Faxon mentioned her call as if it were an occasion.

"Want anything?" Barry inquired.

"Just to say hello. And to suggest that you might like to drive over for dinner this evening."

"That reminds me!" Barry exclaimed. "I thought it might be a good stunt to have dinner at the camp. There are steaks around somewhere, aren't there? Jean could make—"

"Splendid!" Mrs. Faxon said delightedly and took the reins of preparation out of Barry's hands. "I'll send Jimmy down to get the place warm and dusted."

Turning to Mona she went on, "You should feel duly flattered. Barry shows the camp only to his closest friends. I've known of people to hint for weeks—"

"It's my private thinking place," Barry admitted.

After luncheon the four piled into Barry's roadster and made a tour of the countryside. They stopped for a while at a small inn and when they returned to the motor car Barry drove with Mona beside him. Steve and Lottie, in the rumble seat, were apparently deep in some gay secret. Steve's chuckles, punctuated by Lottie's high-pitched chatter, reached Mona in the front seat.

The car ran smoothly along the highway, dipping with the hills, rising again amid rows of oaks and maples. It glided past the carefully checked meadows that made up the well-groomed estates of the rich.

Here all was luxury—no nudged towns of tiny houses, no glaring billboards, no small shops.

As the road twisted and turned the sinking sun reddened, danced ahead of them, danced to the left, then the right again and finally disappeared, as if to terminate the pleasant game of hide and seek they had been playing. Almost immediately they were back at Twilight, returning by a new road. Duck was setting in the trees.

The girls ran upstairs, laughing and chatting.

"Hey you!" Barry called.

"That's for me," explained Lottie. "Didn't I tell you he always calls me that?" She turned and said, "What?"

"Hey you!" Dinner is broiling. Come on!"

.....

Mrs. Faxon had gone ahead with Jimmie and Jean and the huge basket of supplies. Mona and Lottie and Steve and Barry, set out to follow over the newly freezing road, then struck out crosslots for the camp.

On the veranda the appetizing odor of broiling steak greeted them. Jimmy, kneeling before the flame, was guarding the piece de resistance tenderly but relinquished his place immediately to Barry. Jean, smiling from the kitchen door, was mixing salad dressing. The camp now was warm, cozy and delightful.

Mrs. Faxon, busy herself at the table, called them at last to sit down.

When they had finished eating they turned on the radio and danced. Mona, puzzled at first, decided that Barry was avoiding her. When he addressed her he seemed to keep the conversation on a general note. The servants departed carrying the emptied hampers and Mrs. Faxon, from her crotone fire-seat, beamed on the little party approvingly.

"She likes us," Mona thought. And she was right. Mrs. Faxon thought Mona exquisite and her friend, Lottie, refreshing and amusing.

"Barry should have more good times like this," Mrs. Faxon was telling herself. Loyal to each, the dissension between Barry and his uncle worried her. She did her best to help each of them arrive at a more complete understanding.

At last all of them left the little camp wrapped in darkness and silence. Mona thought, as she took Steve's arm, that the whole day had been over too soon. Lottie walked with Barry and he told her of the southern cross, of the tropics, and the lunar rainbow he had seen once in Port-of-Spain.

"Everyone was excited about the lunar rainbow, I remember. Steve and I had gone to bed. The night was lighted by the whitest moonlight I had ever seen and after a while it began raining. I awoke, heard a noise in the hotel court, got out of bed and saw two natives knifing each other down below. Beyond, above the houses across the street, was the rain-then an exit through the door. She might never enter Barry's life again!

She left Lottie busy before the dressing table and descended the stairs just in time to hear Jimmy call Barry to the phone.

"Miss Dower calling," he said. Presently Barry reappeared and caught Mona's hand in his own. There was no one else in the hall and he drew her into the drawing room.

"Does it make any difference to you that Steve is my friend?" he asked. "I mean, do you like me any better because of that?"

His eyes, looking into hers, were troubled. "You didn't like me at first at the office, did you?" Barry went on.

Mona drew her hand away gently. "Of course I like you," she said promptly though a trifle shakily.

She had wanted to see Barry alone. The moment was here now and she hardly knew how to meet it.

"I want to ask you something, Mona," Barry went on. "I've asked Steve. I've asked your loquacious little friend, too, and now I'm going to ask you. They're both encouraging me a little in the hope—"

"Hope?" the girl's face was scarlet.

"The hope that I'm not intruding. That the situation between you and old Steve isn't serious. If I hang around a bit—dine with you—take you out once in a while—I'm butting in? Hang it—are you in love with Steve?"

Mona raised her eyes and looked at him squarely.

"Steve has never asked me that, Barry," she said.

"You see," he went on earnestly, "if Steve were engaged to a girl and I wanted to take her out to dinner he would cheerfully postpone the wedding ceremony and persuade her to go with me! That's Steve!"

"He thinks a great deal of you, I know."

"And he thinks a great deal of you, Mona, too! Once more Barry grasped her hand eagerly.

"Wouldn't the girl's feeling in the affair matter to Steve at all, Barry?" Mona gently asked.

"Of course. But Steve would persuade her that I was the best bet. He'd make her think—"

They were interrupted by a shout from without. Bright headlights threw the hedges into artificial daylight as the car smashed into the darkened space before the entrance. Steve, bareheaded, jumped from the driver's seat and raced to the door.

"All set?" he called. "You look ravishing, Lottie. Make it snappy, will you? Where's Mona?"

"You are the most beautiful thing in the world," Barry was saying softly when Steve appeared in the door.

Barry turned. "Well we don't seem to be getting anywhere," he said smiling. "Steve, as soon as I get this girl halfway agreeable to a dinner date you and Lottie have to break in and ruin everything!"

ORDINANCE NO. 870
An Ordinance Amending Section 4 of Ordinance No. 817 entitled: "An Ordinance of the City of Santa Ana, California, Relating to the Office of Plaster Inspector, Regulating Plastering Within the City of Santa Ana, and Repealing All Ordinances and Parts of Ordinances in Conflict Here-with."

The City Council of the City of Santa Ana ordains as follows: That Section 4 of Ordinance No. 817 be amended to read as follows:

"Section 4. Any person, firm, general contractor, corporation, or anyone building to sell, doing plastering in the City of Santa Ana, shall first before doing any plastering obtain a license so to do. Such license shall be issued by the City Clerk of the City of Santa Ana and only to such person, firm or corporation as hereinafter stated, the holder of a State Contractor's license, upon the payment of a fee of Twenty Dollars ($20.00) per year or any portion of a year, payable quarterly in advance. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person to engage in the business of plastering or to take a contract for plastering any building or to do any plastering for which a plaster permit is required, without holding a plastering license."

Section 4. Any person, firm, general contractor, corporation, or anyone building to sell, doing plastering in the City of Santa Ana, shall first before doing any plastering obtain a license so to do. Such license shall be issued by the City Clerk of the City of Santa Ana and only to such person, firm or corporation as hereinafter stated, the holder of a State Contractor's license, upon the payment of a fee of Twenty Dollars ($20.00) per year or any portion of a year, payable quarterly in advance. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person to engage in the business of plastering or to take a contract for plastering any building or to do any plastering for which a plaster permit is required, without holding a plastering license."

DON'T LET COMMON
CONSTIPATION DULL
THE JOY OF LIVING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples.
If neglected, it can seriously impair health.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B.
ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass.
Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

100 At Dance Of Brea Lions Club

BREA, Jan. 20.—Lions and their wives, aggregating more than 100, enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hay and Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Curtis this week when they gathered in the recreation hall of the Union Oil company for a social evening. Dancing and cards were enjoyed, music for dancing being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Alexander, who also favored with special numbers on the piano and violin. Mrs. Curtis played several piano numbers.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Jan. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Tom Merit and children, Gary and Betty, of San Diego, are house guests of Mrs. Olive Kinley of Broadway.

Mrs. Doris Lambertson attended a birthday party of her niece, Mrs. Ray Valentine, of Orange, recently.

A group of neighbors surprised Mrs. Lela Mullin of Bay street on the anniversary of her birthday. Refreshments were served to the following: Miss Etta J. Bryant; Mesdames J. Noko, Cal Leatherwood, M. Davis, R. Blust, F. Viole.

J. H. Walsh, M. Sierks, C. Stevens, T. J. Reynolds, L. B. Turner and the honoree. A second group arrived in the evening to surprise Mrs. Mullin. Cards were played. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. O. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. C. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Woods and Mr. and Mrs. Mullin.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Wright and daughter, Ruth, of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nordloh of Los Angeles were Sunday guests in the E. J. Smith home on Hamilton street.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schnitzer and Mr. and Mrs. Will Schnitzer attended the funeral of their brother-in-law, Avery Parker, at Coachella. Mr. Parker was killed in an automobile accident.

E. Schneider attended a meeting at the Los Angeles Bible Institute Monday.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME

FULLERTON, Jan. 20.—A fire, evidently starting from faulty wiring between the ceiling and shingle roof, did slight damage to a house belonging to August Bendlin, 417 East Commonwealth. Wednesday night. It was quickly extinguished by the Fullerton fire department.

Eat and Grow Slim

Luncheon

Cup hot clam juice
2 small crackers
Small piece boiled halibut
Orange and lettuce salad
Mineral oil French dressing
Pot of clear tea, no sugar.

Canned clam broth is so convenient it is probably in your kitchen cupboard. Heat and season with celery salt. Pan-broil the halibut if not convenient to boil it. Use a teaspoon of butter for the pan and plenty of lemon juice to season after cooking.

One orange, peeled and sliced, makes the salad together with a generous quantity of shredded lettuce.

tuce. Eat the lettuce—it isn't used just for decorative purposes.

Calory value of meal, 350.

The question has been brought up of how the individual who doesn't keep house can conform to diet requirements. Take this menu for an example: The clear clam broth can be found in any restaurant, so can the halibut. An orange and shredded lettuce salad can be made to order. The only thing that can't be found outside your own home will be the mineral oil salad dressings. For the occasional meal you might just use lemon juice mixed with 1-2 teaspoonful of olive oil and cut down in the next meal on the butter allowance.

When all ideas for frozen desserts fail, try this one—Toast and roll to crumbs a dozen chocolate cookies. Whip stiff a full cup of cream, sweeten with 5 Tbsps. sugar, add a pinch of salt and a tsp. of vanilla. Combine crumbs with cream, add a few pecans, chopped, and some thin slices of candied citron. Freeze.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Chilled Grape Souffle

2 cups grape juice
4 egg whites
2 tablespoons gelatine
1-4 cup cold water
1 cup heavy cream
6 toasted almond macaroons
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 tablespoons powdered sugar

This recipe is not confined to the use of grapejuice. A delightful dessert could be made with either loganberry or raspberry juice. One usually has the two among canned fruits, while grapejuice is not always at hand.

Soften the gelatin in cold water, place the cup in hot water and leave until the gelatin has melted. Stir at once through the grapejuice, set the bowl in ice water to quickly chill. As soon as it shows signs of jellifying add the beaten egg whites and whip to mix. Have individual moulds, or for a dinner party one large mould, rinsed in cold water. Half fill with the whipped jelly, to the remaining half add one-half of the whipped cream sweetened and flavored. Fill the moulds with the cream mixture and set on ice to chill.

Decorating the Souffle

For feast days and high occasions get some almond macaroons and toast in a slow oven to thoroughly dry. Cool and roll into crumbs. When ready to serve dessert invert the moulds of jelly on dessert plates, quickly "fill" with heavy whipped cream and strew the cream covered mould with the macaroon crumbs. A little cream piped around the base of the souffle mould adds to its good looks. An easy way to do this is to seal an envelope, slit the top, fill with cream, and force through a tiny hole in the opposite end.

The dessert serves twelve and the calories per portion total approximately 175, energy type.

Saturday: Two attractive sandwich combinations.

ANN MEREDITH.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

Anaheim Police Notes

ANAHEIM, Jan. 20.—W. L. Deacon of Santa Ana was sentenced to one year in the county jail yesterday morning in the Anaheim justice court when he appeared before Judge Henry Kuchel for his sentence. He was found guilty of indecent exposure on three counts at his trial on Tuesday. The court ruled that he should be confined to the county jail for four months on each of the three counts. Deacon has filed notice of appeal of the case to the superior court. He is an oilworker.

ANAHEIM, Jan. 20.—Plans were discussed for the district convention of the Pythian Sisters, that will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall on Wednesday, February 1, at the meeting held in the lodge rooms of the K. P. hall Wednesday night. Mrs. Mary Fordyce, newly installed most excellent chief, was in the presiding chair for the first time.

The four temples of the district including Santa Ana, Tustin, Brea and Anaheim, will hold an all-day meeting that will be concluded with an evening's program

LOS ANGELES MAN DIES IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Jan. 20.—John Baker, a native of Germany but coming to America more than 50 years ago and living in Los Angeles for nearly a quarter of a century, passed away last evening at the home of his son after an extended illness. He is survived by one son, John H. Baker of Los Angeles; two daughters, Mrs. F. E. Corbin, of Leslie, Mich., and Mrs. Don Parsons of Vancouver, Wash.; one brother, Henry Baker, of De Witt, Mich.; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock from the Hilgenfeld Funeral home. The Christian Science service will be read and interment will be made in the Central Memorial Park.

CONCLUDE SPECIAL SERVICES SUNDAY

ANAHEIM, Jan. 20.—The Rev. Harry O. Anderson, evangelist, who has been conducting services at the Calvary Baptist church for the past two weeks will conclude his special services on Sunday night, according to the Rev. V. K. Ledbetter, pastor of the church.

He will preach both Sunday morning and night. Tonight his sermon subject will be "The Ship of Zion" and the service will be particularly devoted to the young people.

The Rev. Ledbetter announced also that on Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock, in the B.Y.P.U. meeting, the young people will debate the question "Resolved: That the young people of today are essentially as good as the young people ever were."

Following a 6 o'clock dinner. Two hundred members and delegates are expected to attend.

Following the business meeting, a birthday party was held for Mrs. Nellie Rinert, Mrs. Lena Eaken and Mrs. Mabel Lewis.

TAX BURDEN INCREASES

Some interesting information has been issued by the House Ways and Means committee from Washington. It calls attention to the terrific increase in taxes in the past 20 years. It declares that Federal expenses have increased seven times in these 20 years, that is, the Federal expenditures have multiplied seven times, while the population has increased about one-third.

This would make an increase in Federal expenses equal to 21 times the increase in population. In Orange county there has been an increase of twenty-one fold in total expenditures of the county in the last 20 years, while the population has increased three-fold during this period.

Our tax expenditure has outrun our increase in population seven times, while the Federal expenditure has outrun it 21 times. But in both cases it shows a tremendous spirit of money-spending, which has created a most terrible situation in the country at large. While the total tax burden, on the average, in the country is $77.53 today, according to this report, the average in the city of Santa Ana and the county of Orange is about $107, or about $30.00 in excess of the average in the country.

The average increase, outside of Federal taxes, in the last 20 years, according to the figures that have come from Washington, is 48 per cent. This is a little more than double the increase in population. Of the total amount of taxes the general property tax brings directly $41.41 per capita, and all of the rest bring the difference of some $36.06 per capita.

Of course it must be borne in mind that our officials did not deliberately go out, and in blindness increase these expenditures, but a great many of them were voted, and practically all of them were urged upon our tax spending bodies by small groups. The tax-fixing bodies, believing that the small groups represented all of the taxpayers because, at any rate, the rest of the taxpayers were making no protests, voted these added improvements and experiments, which, the very moment they got started, grew with amazing rapidity, and are now able to protect themselves by special organizations interested in their continuance.

According to figures that have today come from Sacramento wages paid in the state of California have been reduced 56.2 per cent since 1926, as a total. With this total decrease, it is no wonder that business men of all kinds, from the biggest merchant in our largest city, to the smallest rancher or gardener in our humblest settlement, is deeply and tragically affected in his income, along with the wage earner.

They in turn, with this decrease feel, of course, this terrific burden of taxes, which is aiding in their financial undoing. Yet we will find that every effort made by any member of the legislature or any tax-fixing body, to cut down expenses in anything like the proportion they must be, if the taxpayer is to receive any relief, will be opposed by certain groups in each particular case. And the great mass of the taxpayers not being represented, the elected official receives a false idea of what actual public sentiment is. It would be well if he kept in mind the sentiment as he learned it, while he was going through his campaign.

A WINNING WAY, THESE PIGS HAD

That human beings are fond of pets is one of life's truisms. The sacrifices the human being will make for a pet are among the beautiful wonders of the world. A story is told by a man who holds it among his memories that when he was a youngster he and his brother and sisters had a pet chicken. The chicken was named by the children and endowed with intelligence and virtue. In due season the chicken was killed and in proper condition served at the family dinner table. But not one of the four youngsters could bear to eat any of the old biddy. They all sat with tears streaming down their faces and watched the insensitive adults consume their pet.

The story is topped by one from New York City. A kind-hearted farmer presented two young pigs to a camp of unemployed men at the edge of New York City. His idea was that the pigs could be fed on scraps until they had grown and would serve the unemployed men with considerable food. The jobless men raised the pigs. They raised them tenderly. They made pets of them. They coddled and enjoyed them; and probably like the children endowed them with virtues, for that is the way of humans with pets. The jobless men became so attached to their pigs that although they now weigh two hundred pounds apiece their owners are much too fond of them to kill them. The food consumption of the pigs has become staggering to a camp of unemployed but even if the men could bring themselves to kill the porkers they couldn't eat any of the meat. Thus does even a lowly pig win his way in the world and take advantage of the hand that feeds him.

JAPAN ATTEMPTS ANSWER TO LEAGUE

We wondered how Japan was going to answer the puzzle, or get out of the hole in which the League of Nations has placed her.

She has attempted to do it more promptly than we had expected. She practically says that she had "her fingers crossed" when she objected to those two nations, outside of the League, being members of the committee of 19. She now says that this was not her chief objection to the committee resolution. She says in importance it ranks fourth.

She says the elimination of the non-recognition declaration takes the first rank, and then follow a number of others. Then, strange to say, according to some Japanese in Geneva, it is declared they might even consent to drop this objection to the United States and Russia, proving that part of the resolution requiring non-recognition be expunged. In other words, if Japan got the resolution arranged as she would like to have it, she wouldn't care who the committee consisted of. "If she can write the songs, she doesn't care who writes the laws."

But in the meantime, actual warfare is proceeding on the Eastern front, and Japan is continuing her wary negotiations along with her aggression. The only thing that really looks as though it could stop it, is when the last yen is taken from the bag, and we can well imagine from the rumors coming from Tokio, that already they can see the bottom.

ASSEMBLYMEN DESERVE COMMENDATION

We want to congratulate our representative from the northern section of Orange county, Mr. Craig, on his opposition to the bill memorializing Congress to request that state conventions be called for the passing upon the repeal of the 18th amendment, and both of our assemblymen for voting against it.

The expense attached to a state convention for any purpose, would run into several millions of dollars, and in the nation, it would reach literally hundreds of millions. More than this, the group which comes together in a state convention, without any continuing obligation to the citizens, is not a proper group to clothe with such responsibility.

No amendment was ever made to the Constitution by the state convention route. And there is no reason why the liquor traffic should be honored by the taxpayers in the expenditure of millions, to furnish them with a group at a state convention that they will be more certain to influence, than they could a body of men elected as our legislators are.

MR. CRAIG URGES INVESTIGATION

Our representative, Mr. Craig, is emphasizing the need of further state investigation, particularly in relation to the tuberculosis test of cattle. He declares that certain interests, learning that certain herds were going to be destroyed, bought the herds at reduced prices, and then got larger prices from state authorities, when they were ordered to destroy the herds.

If this has been done, it is as crooked as any other method of taking the taxpayers' money. There are some men on the public payroll somewhere, who divulge information, and get money for it, and finally the taxpayers pay the bill. Just who is responsible for such a condition does not appear, and Mr. Craig evidently wants it to appear.

Vice-president Marshall said one time: "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar." Maybe so, but it could use also a few Grover Cleverlands in executive positions, who recognize that "public office is a public trust."

INCONVENIENCE PRODUCES JOY

Well, we can look out upon a brighter world today because the rain has replenished the thirsty ground. We are now up to normal rainfall, and the ease with which old Jupiter Pluvius did it last night, suggests to us that he is still in good working order, on the job, and that he will probably end up the season by furnishing us as much or more water than usual here in the Southland.

It is inconvenient while it lasts, but it is a joy to note the reactions of the people over this inconvenience.

More Than Thrills

Sherlock Holmes seemed to Father Brown, knocked out his pipe, refilled it with the celebrated and atrocious shag, lit it, and remarked, "I see by the papers that our very able colleague, S. S. Van Dine, has just said, 'Detective novels, as most people very well realize, have nothing at all to do with literature.'"

The moon-faced little priest managed after an effort to disentangle himself from his famous umbrella—and one day Mr. Chesterton will yet write a Father Brown story in which it rains and the umbrella is opened. He blinked up at his saturnine companion, and said, "Would you not say, my dear Sherlock, that another thing which most people very well realize is that the greater part of literature has nothing to do with literature?"

There the colloquy ended. But so long as there are people who can still go through their forty Father Brown stories year after year and glow over things that they know by heart, and so long as there are people who can read every year the story of the Red Headed League and the adventure of the Man With the Twisted Lip; and so long as Melville Davison Post's "Uncle Abner" can be picked up again and again with pleasure, the Van Dine dictum will not pass unchallenged. There are detective stories and detective stories.

On Washington's Shoulders

"Some 3880 cubic yards of stone must be removed from Washington's left shoulder," says annual report of Gutzon Borglum, sculptor of the Mount Rushmore National Memorial.

Lifting the load from George Washington's shoulders at this time cannot be complete until there is an agreement to cease guessing at what he would say and do in these modern times. The New York Sun says, "It might be added that an even greater load must have been lifted with the winding up of the exploitation conducted by the George Washington Bicentennial Commission. His fame survived the celebration; it will be even proof against Mount Rushmore."

But those interested in the Rushmore Memorial may turn to the whole paragraph from the report which tells of progress and plans: "The work for the summer of 1933 should be the completion of the entire figure of Washington, carrying the work down 240 feet, that is, below his belt and showing his left hand resting on the sword hilt. In order to do this safely prosecuted, some 3880 cubic yards of stone must be removed from Washington's left shoulder and the mountain cut back to the line of the face just behind him."

More Truth Than Poetry

ESSAY ON MAN

The codfish lives his lifetime through
Providing food for me and you;
He's caught and dried
And boiled or fried
Our breakfast board to victual;
And though his liver, lungs and fins
Are simply filled with vitamins
Which buck and brace
The human race,
They help him very little.

Tomatoes, underneath their skins,
Supply no end of vitamins,
Which they convert
From garden dirt
To furnish forth man's uses.
And if he rose before the dawn
And labored till the sun was gone,
He could not count
The vast amount
The spinach plant produces.

It seems to be great Nature's plan
To make existence soft for man,
And yet he'll whine
When bright suns shine,
And wish that it was raining.
Although with all good things supplied
The fellow's never satisfied:
The whole world's his,
And yet he is Eternally complaining.

When doctors disagree for nothing, that's human nature. When they get paid for it, that's a consultation. A conservative is one who gets mad when Hearst says something so sensible it is necessary to agree with him.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

INVENTORS AND STATESMEN

Yesterday I emphasized the way in which the changes in the life processes of our society are putting upon our statesmanship the responsibility of rapid but responsible readjustment of our institutions and policies.

This, I said, was the major impression with which I ended a reading of the 1541 pages of the report of President Hoover's Research committee on Social Trends. In this report, William F. Ogburn vividly dramatizes the way in which changes of the most material and mechanical sort can produce far-reaching social changes and raise baffling social questions.

The invention of houses brought shelter to man, but it has hampered him in getting the proper amount of outdoor exercise and sunshine.

The invention of the automobile gave facility of movement to man, but it produced problems of traffic congestion and automobile theft.

The invention of the modern city brought comforts and conveniences to man, but it has forced the reorganization of the family by transferring production from the family to the factory; it has created a city proletariat; it has changed manners and altered morals; it has created health problems that are as yet unsolved.

The invention of the automobile has gone far towards disintegrating the small town and building up the large centers; it has made possible the consolidation of schools.

The invention of the tin can resulted in the rise of canning factories, but it also registered profound effects in the lives of women by reducing the time needed for preparing meals in the home and thus giving women more time for activities outside the home.

The factory changes the family. Changes in industry force changes in the schools.

This is enough to illustrate the point I am concerned to emphasize, namely, that in a time of such lush growth of inventions statesmanship must be alert to the political, social, and economic effects of mechanical changes.

Much of the disarray of our generation is due to the fact that we have become so fascinated effecting and watching and using mechanical inventions that we have forgotten to effect the social inventions they have made necessary.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

The most common question that comes to the child specialist is "What shall I do to make him?" The child does something that the adult fears to have him do, or that annoys him greatly. Perhaps he makes a mistake, is corrected and persists in it. Always the question the parent asks is, "What shall I do to make him do what I want?"

Better not try to make him do anything. Ask yourself first, "What did I do to make him do that?" Most of the queer antics of childhood are stimulated by the treatment they receive from grownup people. We do things to them and they react to our doing. If what we do is nearly right their behavior is close to rightness. If what we do is wrong we can expect a wrong answer from the child.

"My little girl has a dreadful temper. If she can't get what she wants she throws herself on the floor and kicks and screams until I am nearly beside myself. What shall I do to make her stop?"

Show no emotion whatever and toss a handful of cold water full in her face. Repeat the splash until she stops howling and cries softly when you can help her to undress, put on night clothes and go to bed to sleep off the emotional spree. That is an emergency treatment for hysterics. It is to be administered in a calm professional manner. If the nurse is excited and angry nothing can be done or should be done until she is calm. Excitement feeds excitement and produces the hysterics. That is what you did in all likelihood, to make the child have a tantrum. Most tantrums are manufactured by the grownups for childish consumption. Instead of asking what to do to the child ask what is to be done to yourself. Treat yourself for the defects and faults of your children and you will come very close to treating the child's difficulties, and curing them.

When a child has acquired a bad habit don't search about in your anything at all. You are going to mind to find something to do to him. Search rather for the cause of his difficulty and remove that. When the cause is removed the effect will cease. Stealing is usually the indication of a failure in school, or in the social group. Instead of feeling around for something to do to the child to make him stop, look for the cause of his behavior. Where is he failing? Why do the other children shun him? What forces are at work in him, in the family, in the school, to make him feel unfit and impress upon him the necessity of piecing himself out with material things which he cannot get save by stealing. Find out why he needs to steal and half, more than half, of the job is done.

Children lie to hide from the wrath to come. Fear fathers lies. Teach a child to speak up, teach him that you are not going to make him good, that you are not going to make him mind, that you are not going to make him do what he likes to do, but to live rightly. Not by force but by understanding affection. All healthy normal children want to do right and want to win the approval of their friends. When they fail they need help, not compulsion. It is the spirit of your help that is important. The spirit of force gets nowhere with children.

The little children need to be carried along on the strength of their elders, held to a routine until habit maintains them. When in after years they head the wrong way search for the cause and remedy that. Force is the very last recourse and we use it only when emergency demands swift action. Emergencies would not be emergencies if they came every day. We are always "making" the children. Our care, should be to do our work intelligently.
